LOYD GEORGE IN NEW YORK; POLICE BREAK UP PARADE

Reserves Called Out When Women Appear Outside City Hall With Banners
Assailing England.

FAVORS ACCEPTANCE OF HUGHES' PLAN

Urges Study of Conditions in Central Europe by International Committee — To Visit Woodrow Wilson.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Police reserves today broke up a parade of middle-aged women carrying banners denouncing Great Britain, outside of City Hall, where a crowd of several thousand persons had gathered to greet former Premier Lloyd George on his first visit to America.

More than 20 women carried the banners some of which read: "Don't let England pull the wool over your eyes," and "British bootleggers are flooding America with British booze." The police grabbed the banners and tore them into shreds.

The women said they were members of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic. Some of the banners destroyed by the police bore these inscriptions: "Lloyd George's black and tans are here," "Lloyd George's hands are red with the blood of women and children."

Reserves Called On.
On account of the demonstration in city hall plaza, Inspector Coleman sent a hurry call for 50 additional police reserves.

During the parade, a number of automobiles trailed past the outdoor of the crowd circulating anti-Lloyd George statements. A woman mock a Police Sergeant over the parade with a banner she was carrying and was taken into custody.

Coming here as a private citizen to tour the United States and Canada, the doughty little Welshman and his family were taken from the ship at the Battery on the police boat at Macoon.

At quarantine he made it known that he intended while here to call on President Wilson, and to discuss the Versailles treaty.

Talks on League.
The League of Nations, Lloyd George declared, had certainly been weakened by the Greco-Italian situation and its settlement. He refused to discuss his attitude toward Italy.

He defended the treaty, saying that it was the matter in which it was operated that had caused unhappiness, and endorsed the proposal of statesmen and economists to study the troubles of Central Europe.

The most important factor which might lead toward the settlement of the difficulties of Central Europe, Lloyd George said still were the acceptance of the proposal of Secretary Hughes in his address, that the situation be analyzed and adjusted by an international committee.

There is always danger in Central Europe. The situation is pretty bad, isn't it? The one thing which might have helped would have been the acceptance of your Mr. Secretary's proposal. It is not too late, is it?

Lloyd George did not think the situation any more hopeful than it has been since the war. He declared, but did not think a rapprochement between England and France was in sight on his present occupation.

Contrary and contradicting, he asserted, made it difficult to express an opinion about the possibility of establishing a republic.

The former Premier made it clear that he was not a republican.

HOW TO REACH FLYING FIELD, AND REVISED TRAFFIC RULES FOR MOTORING TO AIR MEET

THE flying field at Bridgeton, where the International Air Races are being held, may be reached by automobile, street car or Wabash train.

The trip by street car may be made by transferring from any cross-town line to the Wellington line, on Franklin and Easton avenues. Cars marked "Direct to Flying Field" are operated over the Wellington line at frequent intervals. They switch to the St. Charles line at Wellington and then to the Bridgeton branch, which has been double-tracked for the meet.

Revised rules for automobile traffic, as given out Thursday, follow:

From 10 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.: West on Florissant to Graham road; south on Graham road to Natural Bridge road; west on Natural Bridge road.

From 10 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.: westbound on Natural Bridge road from Bridgeton road to the junction, west.

After 4:30 p. m.: West on Florissant road to Bridgeton road; south on Bridgeton road to Natural Bridge road, or Long road. East or west on Natural Bridge road, from south parking place, but not from Normandy.

Close Graham road; southbound traffic after 4:30 p. m. Carson road southbound from Natural Bridge road, southbound after 4:30 p. m. from Natural Bridge road.

Prison Officer Kicks Convict, GETS BROKEN JAW IN RETURN

Prisoner Now in Solitary Confinement Awaiting Decision as to Who Was in the Wrong.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 5.—Orth Hulen, assistant superintendent of the commissary of the State penitentiary, yesterday suffered a fracture of the lower jaw in two places as the result of a blow from a convict's fist.

Hulen, who has been on his present job seven or eight years, was endeavoring to hurry some work being done by Paul Gardner, 25 years old, who is serving 10 years from Butler County for grand larceny. According to prison officials, Hulen kicked Gardner, whereupon the convict wheeled and swung his right fist, knocking Hulen down.

Gardner is in solitary confinement pending a decision by Warden Crawford and other prison officials as to who was in the wrong.

"KING BENJAMIN" IN AUSTRALIA

Inspector Believes House of David Head Is Near Sydney.

SYDNEY, Australia, Oct. 5.—Inspector Fowler, superintendent of the detective office here, said today he believed "King Benjamin" Purcell of the House of David colony in Michigan, is at a small town near here.

STOKES AND SIX OTHERS INDICTED FOR CONSPIRACY

Millionaire Hotel Man, His Attorney, a Taxicab Driver and Four Negroes Named in Charges.

WIFE ALLEGES PLOT TO RUIN REPUTATION

Grand Jury Action Comes on Eve of Rehearing of Husband's Suit for Divorce.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—W. E. D. Stokes, millionaire hotel man of New York, his attorney, Daniel Nugent of New York, and five others were indicted by the county grand jury today on charges of conspiracy in connection with the charges of Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes that her husband and his agents plotted to ruin her reputation in connection with his divorce suit.

The indictments, containing nine counts, come on the eve of the rehearing of the suit in which Stokes seeks a divorce. The hearing is set for Monday in New York.

Those named besides Stokes and his attorney include a taxicab driver and four negroes, one of them a former Deputy Sheriff.

List of Those Named.

Those named include Robert H. Lee, former Deputy Sheriff; Joseph Bruner, taxicab driver, said to have been used as a "pay-off" man and alleged to have sought to hire perjured testimony; Ray Hubert, former head waiter of the Beaux Arts Club, a resort; Henry Tapsley, a New York negro, said to have made an affidavit that Mrs. Stokes once was an inmate of a resort, and Mrs. Hattie Johnson, negro, alleged to have been active in gathering evidence for Stokes.

The indictment is the first returned in court since Mrs. Stokes recently made public her charges that her husband and his agents had plotted to besmirch her name with charges and insinuations that she a dozen years ago had been an inmate of a resort here and had frequented negro cafes.

She has charged that the divorce suit and the alleged conspiracy were her husband's effort to cut off her two children from Stokes' estate, that his wealth might go to his son, W. E. D. Stokes Jr., by a former marriage.

The young man, referred to as "Weddie," has been sued by Mrs. Stokes for $1,000,000 as a result of a letter she alleges he wrote to his father declaring her to have been familiar with his stepmother, Mrs. Stokes has declared "Weddie's" charges false.

Mrs. Stokes' Charges.

Mrs. Stokes has charged—and she is said to have testified in detail before the grand jury yesterday to the same effect—that agents of her husband using photographs of herself taken in Denver and elsewhere, have sought to have them identified by numerous persons, chiefly negroes formerly employed in the one-time segregated vice district of Chicago, as of those of an underworld woman.

She has charged that photographs were faked in an effort to show that she once was friendly with a negro.

She has made her charges to the State's Attorney, the grand jury and to newspaper reporters. She was before the grand jury yesterday when she was said to have taken up the various charges which she attributed to her husband and his agents and to have denied all of them.

Other witnesses were heard by the grand jury this morning prior to the return of the indictment. Among them was Mrs. Anna Johnson, once a housekeeper in the Everleigh Club, a resort that flourished years ago. The witness is said to have testified that W. E. D. Stokes once asked her to identify a picture of Mrs. Stokes, which she stated was a former inmate of the club. Mrs. Johnson was said to have testified that she could not identify the picture.

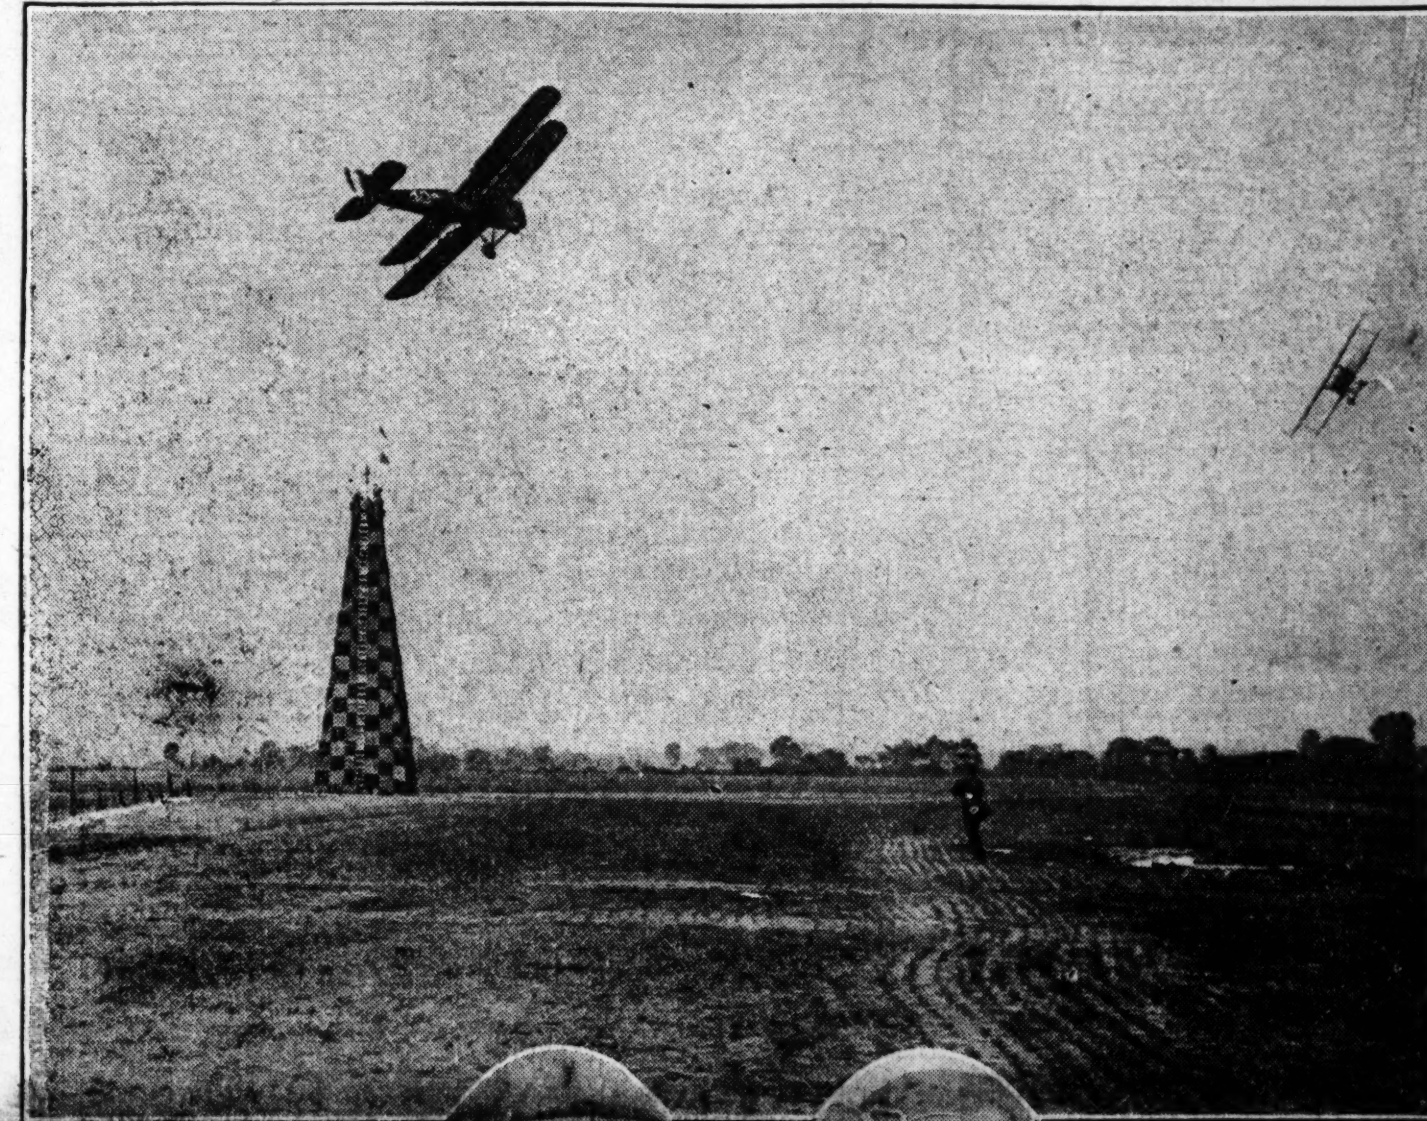

Picture of Woman in Auto.

Among the photographs which Mrs. Stokes charged were used in an effort to defame her, was one of a red-haired woman seated in an electric automobile. This, she alleged, was used in an attempt to have the picture identified as that of a former inmate of the Everleigh Club. Stokes picture, she stated, was taken in Denver, she was the woman in the machine and the automobile was a gift from her father.

The State's Attorney made a lengthy investigation of her charges before presenting them to the grand jury. Among the counts in the indictment were the following allegations: Conspiracy to charge and accuse.

Today's Program

THE program at Lambert-St. Louis Field today, the second day of the air races, was as follows:

9:30 a. m.—Demonstration by Farman airplane, followed by demonstration by dirigible.

11 a. m.—Race for Aviation Country Club of Detroit Trophy, light commercial plane handicapped (200 horsepower or less) for speed and efficiency, over distance of 250 kilometers (155.34 miles). Open to civilians only; $2000 in prizes.

1:15 p. m.—Balloon sniping and acrobatic flying.

2 p. m.—Race for St. Louis Merchants' Exchange Trophy, for large capacity planes, over a distance of 300 kilometers (186.4 miles). Open to civilian and military flyers, $2000 in prizes.

4:20 p. m.—Parachute jumping from moving airplane.

7 p. m.—Demonstration of night flying by pilots of the Air Mail Service.

PRICE OF GASOLINE REDUCED TO 14.4 CENTS IN ST. LOUIS

Cut of 1.5 Cents a Gallon Ordered From Standard and Independent Home Offices.

The price of gasoline at filling stations in St. Louis was reduced 1 1/2 cents a gallon yesterday. The new price is 14.4 cents a gallon. Announcement of the reduction was made about the same time by the Standard Oil Co. stations and those operated by independent companies.

Officers of the Standard and independents would not say why the reduction was made. Orders came from home offices.

It will be recalled that the price of 15.9 cents, a reduction of 5.6 cents from the former price, was established here Aug. 14. In line with general reductions in the Middle West.

TWO ST. LOUISANS ARE FORCED TO LAND

Hutton Is Second and Jones
Third in Contest—Event Intended to Demonstrate Commercial Possibilities of Planes.

A rapidly growing and enthusiastically interested throng at the Lambert-St. Louis Field this afternoon saw fast but uneven flying in the first event of the second day's program of the international air races; was thrilled by brilliant individual performances in a lunch-hour stunt contest, and viewed with an almost awed respect the starting of a flock of heavy loud-toned Martin bombers in the second racing event.

Crisp autumn weather with clear skies greeted the racers and spectators.

The first race, intended to demonstrate the commercial purposes of aviation, was for civilian flyers only and was for the trophy of the Aviation Country Club of Detroit, and for two sets of wing cash prizes, for speed and for efficiency. Passenger-carrying, or the carrying of loads equivalent for passengers was a feature of this race. The course was five times around the 50-kilometer triangle, a total of 155.34 miles.

Four Flyers Forced Down.

Four of the seven flyers who started in this race were forced down, some of the landings being in the roughest part of the course, northwest of the field; but no one was injured in these mishaps, which converted the race, toward its end, into an elimination contest.

Jack Atkinson, in a Bellanca sedan monoplane, with weight of equivalent to four passengers, led at the finish, after J. L. Burns, who had led at a speed of more than 100 miles an hour, had descended almost at the end of the fourth lap.

Partly because of a high wind, which pushed some the flyers out of their course and caused them to approach the field on their return at various heights and from various angles, the time made in this race was less than the time in the corresponding event of the Detroit last year. Atkinson's time was 94.28 miles an hour, which last year's winner, also one of three to finish, made 114.9 miles an hour.

Flags Give Starting Signal.

The pre-race took the position on the field, near the hangars, at 10 o'clock and pilots met for their final instructions in the interval before the signal from the judges' stand was given for the starting of engines. This signal was the raising of a red flag by the chief starter. An assistant starter, assigned to each plane, raised an individual red flag as the engine of his particular plane began turning up.

The final signal for all contestants was the raising of a white warning flag, and this was followed, at intervals of 10 seconds, by the lowering of both red and white flags, notifying the racers to start in the order previously assigned to them.

During the intervals, between the starts, each second was ticked off by the lowering of the red flag alone, this method is the same to be followed in the other races, including the Pulitzer trophy contest for ultra-speedy machines tomorrow.

Wind Proves Big Factor.

For the first time wind proved to be a big factor in the Aviation Country Club of Detroit trophy race. At the starting time, 11 a. m., the wind velocity on the ground was 14 miles an hour, and a bulletin from Scott Field gave the velocity at 9000 feet as 25 miles an hour.

The civilian flyers were heading

EXHIBITION FLYERS ENTERTAIN CROWDS

Aviatrix Does "Stunts" 8000 Feet Up and Parachute Jumpers "Race to Earth."

Following the official program of races the great crowd at Lambert-St. Louis Field yesterday lingered to be thrilled by the commercial airman and "Jenny Plane" visitors, many of whom were in the "On-to-St. Louis" race and who have done much to entertain the crowds each day.

Mrs. Bertha Porchem, wife of Cyle Horchem, the upside-down glider, took her "swallow" and her husband far beneath her. She ascended to an altitude of 8000 feet, where she did some graceful loops and turns.

Another airman of the commercial world, Charles Fowler, took two parachute jumpers to a height of 1400 feet, where they hopped off simultaneously, in what is called a "race to the earth." There is a trick in parachute jumping by which it is possible to descend more quickly after the chute opens by swinging the body back and forth. This motion tends to bring the opposite edges of the parachute together as the body swings, pendulum like, thus reducing its lift and accelerating the descent.

Charles W. Harden, of Horchem's "Circus," won the event by landing a few seconds before Harlen Gurney, who is 16 years old, and began his perilous work two years ago.

Jack Atkinson, made graceful curves and a pretty landing with an odd type of plane called the "Balancing Sedan," which seats four persons in addition to the pilot. It is a monoplane, with plane braces peculiar to its type.

In addition to these turns, various acrobatics were indulged in by a dozen other visitors, after which the crowd found a very efficient traffic system in operation on the roads and no unnecessary delay in getting home.

RADIO GUIDES CAR AT FIELD

Imitation Armored Auto Scampers About Under Wireless Control.

All the stunts at Lambert-St. Louis Field this morning were done in the air. A radio-controlled car "did its stuff" for the crowd, while planes in the morning race battled the wind.

It is a wooden car about six feet long, designed to look like an armored car, with two imitation machine guns bristling from the turret. It has three rubber-tired automobile wheels and was built by attaches of McCook Field, Dayton, O. The car runs from a storage battery, under radio control from a regular touring car following it, twisting and stopping at the operators' will.

PLANES IN PULITZER RACE TOMORROW MUST MAKE 175 MILES AN HOUR

SEVEN SPEEDIEST CRAFT OF ARMY AND NAVY WILL START IN BIG TROPHY RACE

Record for Race Held by Lieut. Maughan Who Made 205.8 Miles an Hour Last Year.

The air derby for the Pulitzer Trophy, which will bring the races at Lambert-St. Louis Field to a close tomorrow afternoon and at which world speed records are expected to fall, will bring together seven premier speed pilots of the United States Army and Navy.

The navy will have an advantage in number of ships, having two flights of 700 horsepower and two flights of 450 horsepower, against three for the army, two Curtiss flyers of 450 horsepower, and a Verville-Sperry monoplane, each of 450 horsepower.

But experts in aeronautics say the high speed event of this meet will not be a race of ships, but a contest involving upon the daring and stamina of the human element, a race testing the mettle of men.

No flyer can win the Pulitzer Trophy who does not exceed 175 miles an hour. In last year's race at Drott seven contestants met this speed condition and four fell below it.

The winner, Lieut. R. L. Maughan, U. S. A., made 205.8 miles an hour.

The Marines, with characteristic wisdom of that fine branch of the American fighting forces, will tell you that "Sandy," the idol of their service, has "done got this thing and gone."

Hope Placed in Williams.

Around the navy hangars where the "real dope" is being disseminated by the "gobs," they will tell you that Lieut. Alfred J. Williams will bring the trophy to the navy, and anything untoward interference with this prediction, the sailors have a right to feel sure.

Lieut. Lawson Sanderson, expert aviator of the Marine Corps who has had some racing experience, says he has seen the Curtiss machine race at Detroit, but was eliminated by motor trouble when well up in the front. He is a daring pilot and the men who will meet him tomorrow concede him a splendid opportunity on his skill.

When the shout, "Come on, Sandy," goes up from the leather wings at the hangars, the concourse of spectators will know that the idol of the "leathernecks," as the 3000 men who cheer him affectionately termed by sailors, is coming down the line of flight.

For spectators, a knowledge of the starting arrangements will be helpful. The gateway signal will be the white starting flag, signifying that the gateway signal for the first plane will be given in 10 seconds. This will give time for the mechanics to draw the blocks from under the wheels.

When all assistants have raised the red starting flag, but not later than 3 p. m., the chief starter is to raise the white starting flag, signifying that the gateway signal for the first plane will be given in 10 seconds. This will give time for the mechanics to draw the blocks from under the wheels.

Again, the gateway signal for the second plane, and for each one starting subsequently, will be the lowering of red and white flags together, any contestant who has difficulty in starting his engine will be given a blue flag, as a request for a deferred start. Such deferred starts must be made within not more than 10 seconds.

The finishing time will be taken when each plane crosses the finishing line between the marks defining the line, after having completed the course of 200 kilometers, or 124.7 miles, four times around the course of 31.07 miles.

Each plane is to have a number painted on the bottom surface of its lower wing and on each side of the fuselage.

Lieut. S. W. Callaway, U. S. N., No. 1, Wright fighter.

Lieut. C. S. Wright fighter, No. 2.

Ensign A. J. Williams, U. S. N., No. 3, Curtiss racer.

Lieut. Harold J. Brown, U. S. N., No. 4, R-2C-1.

Lieut. Alexander Pearson, U. S. N., No. 5, Verville-Sperry racer.

Lieut. W. Miller, U. S. A., No. 6, Curtiss racer.

Lieut. J. D. Corkille, No. 7, Curtiss racer.

Lieut. Maughan, who is 28 and unmarried, has a record previous to his experience as a pilot that would be the envy of any American boy. In 1916 he was a baseball pitcher for the New York Giants. Before that he was graduated from Fordham University. When the war came on he joined the navy, in 1917, and that was the end of his baseball career. He has stated that he will remain in the navy air service the remainder of his life. He is a quiet, genial man. He will be number 9 and will fly a Blue Curtiss, R-2C-1.

Another romantic story of the war ripened when Harold J. Brown, his work bench in Providence, R. I., surrendered to the patriotic urge to join the navy. He was a designer of milling and boring machinery and was a mechanical engineer had already been in the navy's hopes in the great race and will pilot an R-2C-1 Blue Curtiss racer. He is 28 years old and unmarried. Lieut. Brown will be No. 10.

The army's hopes are placed on a "dark horse," according to the gossip around the hangars, where all the "wise ones" seem to be. The reason for this ambiguous statement is that the army has not yet made a final flight in the Curtiss machine, but it is one of the navy's hopes in the great race and will pilot an R-2C-1 Blue Curtiss racer. He is 28 years old and unmarried. Lieut. Brown will be No. 10.

Pearson Gets Speed.

The Verville-Sperry monoplane, which has a Curtiss CD-12 motor and is entry No. 48, with Lieut. Alexander Pearson as pilot, has been given several trial spins over the course. In each of these performances it has shown well and on two of them attained a speed of over 175 miles an hour. This ship is said by the army men to be the slowest of the army entrants, but it is pointed out that Pearson, who is 27 years old, and was an infantry officer overseas in 1917, is without a peer as a pilot in the army air service. He is a graduate of the University of Oregon and is married. In 1919 he flew in the army's transcontinental race.

Very little is being said of Lieut. Walter Miller and Lieut. John D. Corkille, the other two army hopes. When you inquire concerning their prowess or the expectations of the army in this connection you get only a grin and a knowing wink.

Lieut. Miller is from Boston and is 29 years old. He is married. Miller began his career in the army in 1915 with the coast artillery, and transferred to the air service in 1917. He will fly a Curtiss plane. His number is 49.

Corkille, Former Teacher.

Lieut. Corkille is 33, married, and comes from Hollywood, Cal., where he was a high school teacher and bank teller before entering the army. He is a pilot instructor.

Army officials say they are ready for the starting signal. "The navy has new ships, but we've got some mighty good men," said an army sergeant. "Watch our smoke. You will have to excuse me. There is a general order out against rumors."

The ships of Callaway and Sanderson can develop 700 horsepower, those of Williams and Brown 450 each. On the program, the army ships are rated at 400 horsepower, but one of the experts is authority for the statement that they will develop 500 or better.

The Pulitzer Trophy, which has an intrinsic value of $5000, was tendered to the Aero Club of America in May, 1916, by Messrs. Ralph Joseph and Herbert Pulitzer, owners of the Post-Dispatch and New York World, for a national competition with a four-fold purpose—"to quicken American interest in the sciences that Americans first developed and gave to mankind; to induce the equipment of military and civilian aviators for national defense; to demonstrate the practical uses of airplanes for the transportation of passengers and mail, and to open the first transcontinental aerial highway."

Winner Receives $2000.

In addition to the hold of the trophy for one year, the winner will receive a $2000 cash prize. Second prize is $1500, and third prize $500.

The winners of the Pulitzer Trophy for the three years in which it has been held have been: Lieut. Maughan, U. S. A., 1916; Lieut. Callaway, U. S. A., 1917; Lieut. Maughan, U. S. A., 1918.

The Pulitzer Trophy was established by the Aero Club of America in 1916, and is awarded annually to the winner of a race of 200 kilometers (124.7 miles) around the course of 31.07 miles.

Each plane is to have a number painted on the bottom surface of its lower wing and on each side of the fuselage.

Lieut. S. W. Callaway, U. S. N., No. 1, Wright fighter.

Lieut. C. S. Wright fighter, No. 2.

Ensign A. J. Williams, U. S. N., No. 3, Curtiss racer.

Lieut. Harold J. Brown, U. S. N., No. 4, R-2C-1.

Lieut. Alexander Pearson, U. S. N., No. 5, Verville-Sperry racer.

Lieut. W. Miller, U. S. A., No. 6, Curtiss racer.

Lieut. J. D. Corkille, No. 7, Curtiss racer.

Lieut. Maughan, who is 28 and unmarried, has a record previous to his experience as a pilot that would be the envy of any American boy. In 1916 he was a baseball pitcher for the New York Giants. Before that he was graduated from Fordham University. When the war came on he joined the navy, in 1917, and that was the end of his baseball career. He has stated that he will remain in the navy air service the remainder of his life. He is a quiet, genial man. He will be number 9 and will fly a Blue Curtiss, R-2C-1.

Another romantic story of the war ripened when Harold J. Brown, his work bench in Providence, R. I., surrendered to the patriotic urge to join the navy. He was a designer of milling and boring machinery and was a mechanical engineer had already been in the navy's hopes in the great race and will pilot an R-2C-1 Blue Curtiss racer. He is 28 years old and unmarried. Lieut. Brown will be No. 10.

The army's hopes are placed on a "dark horse," according to the gossip around the hangars, where all the "wise ones" seem to be. BRITAIN AWAITS FRENCH 24 PLANES TO MAKE MOVE ON REPARATIONS FLIGHT OF 3200 MILES

Curzon Says Policy Follows Conversion of Passive Resistance Into Passive Assistance.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The present policy of the British Government on reparations is to wait the move from France, now that Germany has "converted her passive resistance into passive assistance," Foreign Secretary Lord Curzon said in addressing the imperial conference today.

Lord Curzon's speech was made upon the subject of the flight of 24 French planes to Mexico, now that Germany has "converted her passive resistance into passive assistance," Foreign Secretary Lord Curzon said in addressing the imperial conference today.

The first flight from the Canadian to the Mexican borders, with mid-air refueling as part of the program will be made by Capt. Lowell H. Smith and Lieut. John P. Richter, about Oct. 19. Authority to make this flight was received by Maj. Henry H. Arnold, Commander of Rockwell Field, yesterday from the Chief of the Air Service. The flyers hold records made during the war across the continent to San Diego as being planned by Capt. Albert Marshall, commander of the aircraft squadrons battle fleet.

Twenty-four De Havilland planes will participate in this voyage. The distance is approximately 3200 miles, of which more than 500 miles is over the Caribbean sea, Atlantic ocean and Gulf of Mexico. The flight will start immediately after conclusion of battle maneuvers by the United States fleet in Caribbean waters next April.

The route of the flight of the 24 De Havillands from Culbraz to San Diego will be as follows: Culbraz to Jajardo, Porto Rico; thence either to Port Au Prince, Haiti, or Santo Domingo, to Guantanamo Bay, Miami, Fla., Pensacola, New Orleans, Houston, San Antonio, El Paso, Tucson, Ariz., San Diego.

Pension Damage Suit to Be Refilled.

The suit for $10,000 damages, alleged nonpayment of an annuity of $1000 a year, against the American Food Products Co., and Armour & Co., which bought out Morris & Co., was dismissed in Circuit Court today by the plaintiff's lawyer, who then announced the case would be refilled in the home offices of the defendant corporations being in Illinois.

Manhattan's skyscrapers. Coming up the bay today on the Mauretania he asked to be taken to the forward cabin to get a look at the skyline of New York. He stuck his head out of the window. It was a long climb and prepared for a feast. "Impressive!" "Marvelous!" "Wonderful!" he exclaimed all the way to the dock.

When he first saw the lower city, shrouded in a slight haze, he turned to his wife and remarked: "It's like a medieval fortress, like approaching Carnarvon castle in Wales."

Grover Whalen, New York Commissioner of Plants and Structures, who accompanied him up the bay, began to talk of municipal affairs and the city's future. Whalen said he knew if "the municipal authorities still are wrestling with the five-cent fare issue."

Secs Placards on Trip.

Mr. Lloyd George, ignorant of the placards that had been torn down at city hall before his arrival, saw more of them on his motor trip to the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, where he is to stay tonight.

They were carried along his route by middle-aged Irish women, who spat at his automobile as it passed them and jeered loudly. The placards read:

"Your hands are bloody with the blood of women and children," and "Who dares welcome a red-handed murderer to this country."

The visitor paused at his hotel before proceeding to the Ritzmore to attend a luncheon tendered him by the United Press Association, with Newton D. Baker, former Secretary of War, extending him welcome.

Pulitzer Race Outstanding Aviation Event Tomorrow

THE PULITZER TROPHY RACE is the outstanding event on the program at Lambert-St. Louis Field tomorrow, the final day of the air races. It furnishes the climax of the international meet, and all existing records for speed at which man has traveled are expected to be surpassed. The race will begin at 3 p. m.

The day's program will begin at 9:30 a. m., with airplane demonstrations.

At 11 a. m. pilots of the United States air mail service will compete for the Detroit News Air Mail Trophy. The event carries added cash prizes totaling $1500. The distance is 300 kilometers (186.4 miles). Sixteen pilots, all flying De Havilland planes of the air mail service, are entered. They are: R. H. Ellis, E. R. Yager, E. F. White, T. E. Moore, W. E. Houston, E. M. Allison, W. D. Williams, W. S. Smith, H. T. Lewis, J. H. Knight, L. H. Garrison, R. J. Page, P. F. Collins and B. H. Winslow.

3 p. m. Pulitzer Trophy race, for high-speed planes, open to civilian and military pilots. Prizes total $4000, including $2000 for first, $1500 for second, $500 for third. Distance, 200 kilometers (124.7 miles)—four laps of the course.

Navy Craft, Built in 1918, Finally Downed by Hard Luck That Trailed It

The complete washout yesterday afternoon of the navy 18-T triplane, the famous 1918 "Whistler," ended the career of one of the first speed planes built for the navy.

Yesterday was the "Whistler's" third start in a big race and also the third time it failed to finish. All that is left of the 18-T that may have any value is a handful of instruments and the engine block. Planes, fuselage, rudder and landing gear are kindling or twisted metal. Much of this refuse is today adorning the homes of souvenir hunters who picked old "Whistler's" bones before his handlers could haul him to the sanctuary of his hangar. It is just as well that the "Whistler" was a complete "washout," for it is doubtful if a pilot could be obtained who would really hope to win a race with the veteran.

The 18-T started in the first Pulitzer Trophy race on Long Island piloted by Lieut. Lawson Sanderson, the flying Marine. The "Whistler" led the field by 12 miles until near the finish line, when its gasolene supply gave out. Yesterday the "Whistler" snapped its crankshaft and tore a wide swath in a plowed field not far from Bridgeton road. The crash, which ended in a complete upset, did nothing more than dirty the faces of Ensign Don C. Allen, the pilot, and First-Class Mechanic T. C. Hughes, who was with it in 1920 and broke down.

A complete "washout" is apparently only a passing incident in the life of a navy aviator. Allen and Hughes were brought to the navy hangars by automobile after the mishap. As they washed the Missouri soil from their faces and told of the "Whistler's" final dive not a tremor could be detected in voice or hand. And peculiar as it may seem, the "Whistler's" passage is not mourned. While its high screaming whistle never will be heard again it is the general opinion of navy men at St. Louis field that the "Whistler" ran its course and it is just as well.

Once the hard road was reached, it was full speed ahead, for the police that lined the road insisted upon a smart pace. Tire or engine trouble resulted in the cars being pushed off the road so as not to interrupt the steady flow. Most cars made the trip home as rapidly as their drivers cared to go.

THE MISSES' AND JUNIOR SECTIONS

Meet the Apparel Needs of the Younger Generation

THE school girl, the college miss, the stay-at-home girl and the young business woman have learned to depend upon our Junior and Misses' Departments to provide appropriate apparel, in good taste for all occasions to meet their requirements each season. The large patronage of these two departments makes it possible for us to offer a range and variety that afford individuality in the selection of youthful attire.

In the Misses' Section—

Misses' Fall Frocks

$35.00 to $95.00

Foremost in Fall models is the Coat Dress which emphasizes the smart severity prevailing among woolen fabrics. The unbroken line is also popular in silks and the softer materials.

Unusual style is attained this season in the fashioning of crepe satins, Canton crepes, brocaded chiffons and chiffon velvets.

The style range provides Frocks for formal and informal affairs, in sizes 14 to 18 years.

Misses' Winter Coats

$75.00 $95.00 $125.00

The new Winter Coats, in high-pile fabrics and luxurious furs, give smartness through their slenderizing lines and distinction through their richness of fur and fabric. Sizes 14 to 18 years. (Third Floor.)

In the Jaunty Junior Section—

Girls' Coats at $29.50

Winter Coats in a wide selection of styles and materials are shown with smart shawl collars or fur trimmed, and lined throughout. The colors are Sorrento, navy, brown, and reindeer. Sizes 12 to 17 years.

School Coats at $19.75

Smart Sport Coats, of wool polaire, lined throughout, belt or side-tie fastenings; also at this price, rich Bolivia Coats with fur collars. Sizes 8 to 14 years.

Lose Weight Without Effort—Use Melto!

You can now be slender, graceful and charming—without strenuous exercises or strict diets. For science has at last discovered Melto—the truly sensible, easy, comfortable way to reduce.

Melto is a delicate, rose-tinted cream. You simply apply it to the part you want to reduce—be it hips, waist, bust, arms, ankles or elsewhere. Rub lightly for a few minutes each day. You'll soon find the fat melting away! Your skin becomes firm and healthy, your mind clearer, your disposition happier!

It's almost too good to be true—yet you can prove the wonderful qualities of Melto just as thousands of other grateful women have proved it.

It's perfectly safe and pleasant to use, very easy to apply. It requires little effort and produces such wonderful results that you shouldn't let another day go by without a Melto treatment.

Get Melto at your drugist or toilet goods department today. An 8 ounce jar costs only $4.

It's absolutely harmless!

FRAME BUILDING PLAN FOR CRIPPLES GIVEN UP

Public Service Commission Had Held Temporary School Would Be Fire Trap.

Mayor Kiel, following conferences with members of the Board of Education who sought his aid in inducing the Board of Public Service to reconsider its action refusing the board permission to erect a temporary frame building at Grand boulevard and Henrietta street for special instruction of crippled children, has decided that the Public Service Board's stand was the proper one, he announced today.

As is known, Director of Public Safety McKelvey recommended that a permit be refused the school board. A frame building of the size proposed, 12x140 feet, offered a fire hazard that was not only forbidden by law, but would be especially dangerous in the case of crippled children, McKelvey pointed out. He recently has refused permission for a frame Baptist church and a Catholic parochial school to be erected.

McKelvey said he had no objection to a building of 13-inch brick walls, with roof and floor of wood. The Board of Education is considering plans for a building which they hope will meet with approval. The appropriation for the crippled children's school, including the first year's instruction, is $40,000, set last June.

Carried Into River on Truck.
Henry Silles, 33 years old, 2314 South Twelfth street, in attempting to save his automobile truck when it ran into the river at Lucas avenue yesterday afternoon, was carried into the water. Two railroad workmen threw him a rope and he was pulled to shore. The truck was not recovered. Silles said he had parked the truck in front of 121 Lucas avenue. The truck suddenly started down the levee. He pursued and near the water's edge caught the truck and was carried into the river.

Violin Student Snds His Life.

By the Associated Press.
LEADVILLE, Colo., Oct. 5.—Mrs. Theodore Rollman of Leadville, mother of William Rollman, violin student who was found dead in his room in Omaha yesterday, expressed the belief that her son's realization that he could not become a master musician had led him to take his own life. Young Rollman drove to Leadville from Omaha in his automobile about two months ago and visited her, his mother said. He was employed by an electric company in Historic Italian Monastery Burns.

By the Associated Press.
CATANZARO, Italy, Oct. 5.—

Fire today destroyed the Certosa of Serra St. Bruno, one of the historic monasteries of Calabria. It was built in the sixteenth century on the spot where St. Bruno founded the Corthu-sian order in the eleventh century. St. Bruno retired there after his suspension by a Parisian order in the eleventh century. His body was later transferred to the grave.

Harvest Days Are Here!

"When the Frost Is on the Pumpkin
And the Fodder in the Shock"

The happiness of having those things that make cozy the favorite nook or corner by the hearth on the long Winter evenings, or of buying for those we love or for ourselves the Winter needs from head to toe, is indeed greatly enhanced by A SALE LIKE THIS—

Our Ninth Great Harvest Sale Begins Monday, October 8th

COATS

In Our Annual October Sale

Priced

$39.50

Coats of the new fabrics—trouvenette, veldette, amolaine, Normandy, Bolivia, brytonia—in the new side-draped apron styles, and Coats in straightline models in sizes for women and misses—16 to 48.

The linings are all either crepe de chine or peau de cygne of qualities that will wear at least two seasons.

Those fine furs fashion insists upon—Manchurian wolf, platinum wolf, caracul, fox and vicuna. Many of the Coats have huge collars or collar-and-cuff sets of these fine furs. Others have bands of furs used as trimmings that set them off most smartly. Some of the finest of the Coats are plain.

GULBRANSEN
The Registering Piano

you register feeling, you register expression, you register touch, the exact touch of the performer. THINK OF IT!

Touch has been the missing link between all mechanical Pianos and playing with human fingers. But now, with the Gulbransen "Registering" Piano, the keys are actually pressed down with the tenderness of the daintiest finger touch. Then the delicate tone shadings or the gradual crescendo or the sudden big climax. And it is all done with the same thrill of satisfaction as though you had done it all with your fingers.

The Gulbransen "Registering" Piano will register happiness in your home. Try it.

EGAN GANG ASSOCIATE TURNED OVER TO ST. LOUIS POLICE

James Hennessy, Released in County, to Be Questioned in Killing of McGee and Malone.

James (Sticky) Hennessy, associate of Egan gangsters, was turned over to the St. Louis police today, following his release on bond at Clayton, near the North and South roads, for questioning in connection with the murder of State Representative William McGee and Elmer Malone, an ice wagon driver, who were shot with bullets intended for James Hogan the night of Sept. 8, at Jefferson and Cass avenues.

Hennessy, who was arrested in St. Louis County Sept. 23, following a series of holdups on Manchester road, near the North and South roads, was held for identification, but the county authorities said, none of the victims of the robberies could identify him, although at the time of his arrest Deputy Sheriff stated that several of the victims had said he resembled one of the robbers.

A charge of carrying a concealed weapon was placed against Hennessy because at the time of his arrest he was carrying a loaded revolver. He furnished $2500 bond on that charge in Clayton today.

Chief of Detectives Hoagland, who personally investigated the killing of Representative McGee and Malone, reported that Hennessy had fallen out with Hogan as the result of a robbery in Madison, Ill., in which thieves, who had stolen $30,000 worth of diamonds from the St. Louis Refining Co., were held up and robbed of part of the loot.

$1500 Burglary Reported.

Silverware valued at $1500 was reported stolen from the home of Henry Friedman, 6223 Washington boulevard, early today. A maid, entering the kitchen at 6:30 a. m., saw a man leaving by a rear door. She screamed and the man escaped. A window in the kitchen had been broken.

Announcing

the Opening of a Women's Cloak and Dress Department—and an Invitation

Tomorrow we open a Department for Women and Misses, where high-grade Coats, Wraps and Dresses will be featured at popular prices.

The first consideration in building this department will be Customer Satisfaction. To this end, quality will be kept to the highest level, the styles will follow the newest fashions and the prices will be lower than can be obtained elsewhere for the same quality. In most instances the prices in this shop will be far below retail—they will be more nearly wholesale. We dedicate this department to the women of greatest discrimination, who have a bent for thrift and economy. Even if moderate price is not an object, neither is it an objection, and to make our low prices possible there will be no charge accounts in this department only.

For our opening we offer hundreds of Coats and Dresses at amazingly low prices, and we invite you to attend. You will find this a cheerful store, with every customer a guest.

Don't try to hide skin trouble. Get rid of it!

No amount of cosmetics can conceal an ugly skin. They only fill in the pores and make the condition worse. Resinol Soap cleanses the pores, giving them a chance to breathe and throw off clogging impurities—the first step in overcoming skin defects.

A touch of Resinol Ointment for blotches and inflamed spots, relieves the soreness and reduces the angry look. The soothing, healing medication in the Resinol products makes it so easy to get rid of excessive oiliness, blackheads, blotches, redness, etc., why waste time trying to hide them.

Resinol wins by improving skin!

INTELLIGENCE TESTS GIVEN AT WASHINGTON AND LEE U.

School Has Never Before Required This Procedure As An Entrance Requirement.

SPECIAL TO THE POST-DISPATCH.

LEXINGTON, Va., Oct. 2.—Intelligence tests for all new men entering Washington and Lee universities will become a fixture, according to President Henry Louis Smith, providing a series of tests submitted to the entire Freshmen class last week practicable. More than 360 new men gathered in Newcomb Hall on last Friday afternoon stood the mental classification tests submitted under the direction of Prof. William M. Brown, head of the Department of Education, assisted by several members of the faculty.

While general intelligence tests are given by a large number of universities and colleges throughout the United States as a part of their entrance requirements, Washington and Lee has never required this procedure as a requisite for admission and does not intend to make it an entrance requirement in the future, stated President Smith. Results of the tests, however, will be classified for reference.

TELLS OF DEATH BED QUESTIONING

Dr. Gettler's Tests Said to Have Revealed Poison in Woman's Body, but in Very Small Quantity.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Dr. Alexander O. Gettler, Bellevue Hospital toxicologist and pathologist, has determined that there was poison in the brain, liver and kidneys of Mrs. Charles Webb, whose death at the Westchester-Biltmore Country Club at Eye, N. Y., was followed by declarations of her relatives and friends that they suspected she had been poisoned. The poison was in such small quantity, however, that it could not be said positively to have caused death. This Dr. Gettler will set forth in his report to the authorities of Westchester County.

He was unable to identify the poison as bichloride of mercury, explaining that in 1 to 10 per cent of the cases of mercurial poisoning it is impossible because of chemical changes that take place in the body. Despite this result, Dr. Gettler's analysis, District Attorney Rowland of Westchester County, went ahead today with his plans to continue the grand jury investigation of the case. There also was a meeting of relatives and friends of the dead woman, who gathered with their lawyers and talked of "forcing" an arrest. It was decided to defer appealing to Gov. Smith to order an investigation by a special grand jury.

The meeting was attended by Dr. William Meyer, whose refusal to sign a death certificate after Mrs. Webb died started the official investigation.

"What's All This Mystery?"

In telling of the death chamber scene, Dr. Meyer said he had completed an examination of Mrs. Webb. She talked freely and was in control of every faculty. He knew there was no hope for her and he walked in the corridor of the club. There he met Charles Webb, the woman's husband, and Col. Howard Thayer Kingsbury, Webb's cousin and attorney.

"What's all this mystery about poison?" Dr. Meyer said Col. Kingsbury asked him.

Dr. Meyer said he replied he knew of no mystery about poison and that Col. Kingsbury then said Webb had told him there was.

As to this conversation, Kingsbury said he asked Dr. Meyer, "What's all this mystery?" but he denied he used the word poison.

Dr. Meyer also declared he had been a victim of scandal mongers and character assassins.

"The morning of the day Mrs. Webb died, the nurse in attendance reported to me a peculiar phase of our patient's condition which had not hitherto manifested itself," Dr. Meyer said. "Doctor," she told me, "you know I have been a good many years in my profession, but there is nothing in all my experience that would explain why such a condition exists." I then decided to make more complete examination of Mrs. Webb than before. The result of that examination startled me. As I was pulling over what I had found, I decided to verify my suspicion by a direct statement from Mrs. Webb herself. Walking over to the bedside I took Mrs. Webb's hand. Mrs. Johnstone, wife of former Judge Robert S. Johnstone, was seated at the other end of the bed and the nurse standing at the foot.

"Question on Death Bed."

"Gertie, I said, 'you are a very sick girl. To tell you the truth, Gertie, you are dying.'"

"The poor girl looked at me and her fingers tightened on mine."

"Do you think so, Doctor?" she whispered.

"Gertie, I know so," I replied, "and it is necessary—absolutely necessary—for you to answer some important questions. These are very important things, Gertie, but I want you to tell me everything, will you?"

"For perhaps 40 seconds the dying woman hesitated. Then, looking first at me and then at Mrs. Johnstone, she resignedly murmured 'Yes.' Then in a weak voice she told me, in answer to a dozen questions, an almost incredible story. From my lesser sources than a patient on her death bed I would have hesitated to believe the things she answered."

"Gertie," I continued, "something is the matter with you and I don't know what it is. Something has gotten into your system that is killing you. Think back carefully now and tell me if you have any idea what it might be. When you were in Connecticut this summer did you do any drinking?"

"Yes, a little," she replied.

"Do you mean you had an occasional highball of cocktail?" I asked her.

"Yes," she sighed.

"Blue-Colored Tablets Used."

"And would it have been possible, Gertie, for anyone to have put anything into these drinks without

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified crocodile that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.
Of all known drugs, crocodile is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung trouble.
Creomulsion contains, in addition to crocodile, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the crocodile goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.
Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchitis, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung disease, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.

death, to tell her secret she turned her eyes from Mrs. Johnstone's face to mine.
"Remember, Gertie, you are dying," I prompted her. "It is very important that you tell me everything."
"She reached for Mrs. Johnstone's hand. 'Oh, Margaret knows,' she whispered."
"What was used?" I asked her.
"Tablets," she replied.
"What color were they, Gertie?"
"Blue, I think," she answered.
Dr. Meyer was asked if that was why he did not sign a death certificate and went to Coroner Fitzgerald.
"It certainly was and I think it was enough," he said, adding: "Gertie Gorman—I never can bring myself to speak of her as Gertie Webb—should have justice."

Subpoenas Issued for Five.
Later, District Attorney Rowland said:
"If Dr. Meyer realized that the circumstances of Mrs. Webb's illness were suspicious, which he must have realized sometime before her death, why did he not notify the proper authorities and give them an opportunity to make the necessary investigation?"

Rowland caused grand jury subpoenas to be issued for Judge John F. McIntyre of General Sessions and his wife, who were friends of Mrs. Webb; Ernest F. Krutz, eye specialist who treated Mrs. Webb; George Taylor, real estate man, who was one of the ushers at the Webb wedding, and talked with Webb on the way to the burial in Philadelphia, and Miss Mabel Johnson, Mrs. Webb's nurse at Roosevelt Hospital.

They will be heard when the grand jury meets Monday, as will Dr. A. B. Edgar, who was called in consultation; Dr. Davenport West, who attended Mrs. Webb in the hospital; Mrs. William T. Hunter, Devon, Pa., aunt of Mrs. Webb, and her husband, who were at the country club in the latter part of Mrs. Webb's illness, and Miss Anna Herzog and Miss Margaret Dayton, nurses at the club.

It was said in Albany that unless the friends of the dead woman could show excellent reasons for his doing so, Gov. Smith would be loath to take the matter out of the hands of the Westchester authorities. The Governor said he had not heard from anyone concerned in the case.

A conference of relatives and friends was held in the office of former Surrogate John P. Cohlman, who was engaged by the two sons and daughter of the Hunters to oppose the probating of the will of Mrs. Webb, which she made just before going to the hospital and which was filed by her husband's lawyer. This will left all to her husband, with a petition for bequests to be made by him.

Old-Style Calomel Gives Place to the De-Nauseated Tablets Known as "Calotabs."

With all of the liver-cleansing system-purifying qualities of the old-style calomel, but robbed of its eating and dangerous effects, Calotabs has become the most popular as well as the most useful of all home remedies. For biliousness, constipation, and indigestion it is indispensable, nothing but calomel will straighten out a disordered liver.
One tablet at bedtime with a small amount of water—that's all—no taste, gripping, no nausea, no salts. No morning your liver is active, your system purified, and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite. Eat what you please—no danger.
Genuine Calotabs are never sold bulk. Ask for the original, ten-tablet package. Price, ten cents a thirty-five cents. If you are not thoroughly delighted, your druggist is authorized to refund your money.

Stiff sore neck

That ache and tension in the neck muscles—you can be rid of it! Apply Sloan's. You don't have to rub it in. Just put it on gently. The tense, strained muscles relax. The pain stops. Get a bottle from your druggist today and have it on hand. 35 cents. It will not stain.

MRS. WEBB TOLD OF BLUE TABLETS, PHYSICIAN SAYS

Attending it were: Irving E. Burdick, who was counsel for Mrs. Webb; Mr. Hunter, former Judge Johnstone, Dr. Meyer and John H. Gilbert, lawyer. It was reported that former Gov. Nathan E. Miller had been engaged in the will fight, but this was denied by his secretary. After it was over, Cohalan said:

"We have decided that the time is not ripe to make an appeal to the Governor. There is nothing to indicate that the Westchester County authorities are not doing their duty. The matter will be left in their hands for the present."

Cohalan said that at the proceedings in the Surrogate's Office no witnesses would be examined on the order to show cause why a temporary administrator should not be appointed to conserve the assets of the estate.

Col. Kingsbury, Webb's counsel, said he would ask for the appointment of a trust company as temporary administrator. Although Webb is entitled to a postponement, he said no effort would be made to bring that about. Burdick, who is now acting for S. Jennings Gorman, Mrs. Webb's father, also said a trust company would be named as administrator. Burdick issued a statement on behalf of Gorman that read:

"I am naturally greatly shocked at the sudden death of my daughter. From the suspicions entertained by Dr. Meyer, the pathological conditions reported by the doctors who conducted the autopsy and the discovery of poison by Dr. Gettler, I desire the most thorough investigation be made by the proper authorities. I make no accusations against anyone as to the cause of death and I am anxious to learn the truth."

Man Hurt Seriously by Auto.

Julius Magwitz, 60 years old, of 3144 Locust street, a carpenter suffered a fracture of the skull and left thigh at 3 p. m. yesterday when he was knocked down by an automobile at Compton and Locust street. He was taken to the city hospital.

JEWEL ROBBER, WANTED IN U. S., CAPTURED IN VILLA NEAR PARIS

Accused of Leading Band Who Robbed New Yorkers of $30,000 Worth of Jewels.
 PARIS, Oct. 5.—Gabriel Alphonse Mourey, jewel robber, who was shot while resisting capture at Chelles, 12 miles from Paris, at first shammed death and then serious injury, but was found at the hospital today to be no longer dangerously wounded.
 Mourey, under the alias, Henri Bollat, was wanted for the theft of Washington Square (New York) $30,000 worth of jewels from the home of Albert R. Shattuck, retired financier, in April, 1922. He is alleged to have posed as a butler to the Shattuck household and then to have led the band of criminals who looted Shattuck, his wife and a number of servants in the wine cellar and rifled the house.

 The police located Mourey at Channes and surrounded his villa with a dozen agents who rushed it at dawn. Mourey opened fire on them through a window with two automatic pistols and wounded one policeman before he was cut down by bullets.

 He probably will be able to leave the hospital within two or three weeks when it is understood he will be arraigned on a charge of attempted murder in consequence of his shooting the policeman. It is understood, however, that the French authorities will not press this charge should official request come from New York for Mourey to be turned over to the United States courts, as the policeman was only slightly injured.
 Albert Bollat Convicted.
 By the Associated Press.
 NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Albert Bollat

in was found guilty by a Federal jury yesterday on a charge of sending obscene letters through the mails, but was acquitted of a second indictment charging use of the mails to defraud the Government. Judge Knox fixed Monday for imposing sentence and continued Bollat's bail of $1500. Assistant District Attorney Mattuck, in summing up the prosecution's case, called Bollat a dangerous radical and accused him of writing the letters in the hope of getting a position with the Department of Justice.

FOR CONSOLIDATING FEDERAL RAIL BOARDS

Council of General Contractors Discusses Transportation and Other Problems.

Consolidation or co-ordination of the Federal railroad rate-making and wage-fixing bodies was suggested for financial improvement of railroads by members of the executive and advisory boards and president's council of the Associated General Contractors of America, in session at Hotel Jefferson yesterday.
"It was the consensus of opinion of those present that the present transportation act should not be changed," R. C. Marshall, general manager of the association, said after the session, which was executive. "We feel that the present act should not be disturbed until it has been in operation sufficiently long to determine its full effect."

Against New Laws Now.
"Conditions of the railroads have improved greatly during the last year. They handled 30 per cent more traffic than normal last year and the service was better than at any time since 1914. It was the sense of the meeting that no new legislation which might hamper the roads be pushed at this time and that they be given every assistance possible."

Government ownership or further control of the railroads by the Government was opposed by several of the speakers.
"If any change is made in the transportation act at this time it should provide that the wage and rate making bodies be one and the same or be co-ordinated. One is so dependent upon the other that we feel both functions should be discharged by one body."

Discussion of the labor and material market affecting contractors indicated that the contractors present were in doubt as to what developments to expect next spring,
Marshall said.

Foresaw Buyers' Strike.

"Our association held the view in January of this year that if the enormous volume of construction work planned for this year was placed on the market, material and labor costs would go so much higher as to cause a buyers' strike similar to that of 1922," Marshall said.

"We endeavored to cause deforment of all construction work, including a number of Government projects, which were not absolutely necessary. As a result of our activities projects aggregating three-quarters of a billion dollars were deferred."

"Prices of materials and labor did increase. They went up high. But due to deferring of that large amount of work they did not reach the breaking point and we feel that the market, both for materials and labor is steady and we are enjoying a normal construction program. We know that a great amount of work is in contemplation for next spring, but it is too early to make any predictions as to conditions likely to prevail at that time."

Sessions to Continue.

Sessions of the contractors will continue today and tomorrow. Nomination of officers and selection of a city for the annual convention in January are scheduled for this afternoon. Cities which have asked for the convention include St. Louis, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.;
Asheville, N. C.; Atlantic City, Dayton, O., and Chicago.

The association has about 3000 members. Between 40 and 50 are here for the conference. A dinner at Bevo Mill is included in the entertainment program for today.

SAYS HE KNEW SHIPS WERE GETTING CLOSE TO SHORE

Witness Testifies He Would Have Followed Other Craft Except That They Slowed Down.

By the Associated Press.
SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 5.—Navigators aboard the U. S. S. Kennedy which was leading the rear-most division of destroyer squadron 11, when it steamed into the rocks off Honda, Cal., Sept. 3, knew that "they were getting too close to Point Arguello" and sheered westward almost at the same time that seven ships ahead of them plowed through the surf to destruction, Lieutenant-Commander Robert E. Bell yesterday told the naval court of inquiry investigating the disaster.

Despite this realization of danger, the witness said, he would have attempted the fatal eastward turn with the other vessels had he not noticed that ships ahead of the Kennedy were slowing down and appeared to be in some confusion.

He would have done this, he told the court, because "destroyer doctrine requires me to follow the leader."

Urban League Busy Placing Negroes.
The large number of negroes migrating to St. Louis has almost doubled the work of the employment department of the Urban League, 2329 Market street, Gordon Simpson, executive secretary, says. The league placed 4433 negro men and women in work in the first nine months of this year, as compared with 2252 in all of 1922, Simpson stated. The number placed in September, 659, was an increase of 237 per cent over January, when 275 were placed. The figures for the other months of the year to date are: February, 276;
March, 386; April, 467; May, 625;
June, 511; July, 609; August, 622.

NOISELESS STREET CAR APPEARS

Equipped With Roller Bearings and Automobile Brakes.

By the Associated Press.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 5.—
The Twin Cities noiseless street car, equipped with roller bearings and automobile brakes, appeared here yesterday. With a subdued, well modulated whirling, it made its way over the rails, while passengers had difficulty in keeping their voices low enough so that everything they said could not be heard all over the car.

The new car is the result of two years' research work by the transit company's engineers. Elimination of much of the noise of an ordinary car was made possible by discarding the old-fashioned journal box and iron brake shoes, and placing rubber gaskets between the body of the car and the tracks. No plans have been made for building more of the cars.

LODGE POSSIBLY THE SUCCESSOR TO GEORGE HARVEY

Senator's Appointment Would Mean Continuance of Tradition of Sending Literary Men to England.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE,
Special Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
(Copyright, 1923.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Official announcement that George Harvey, American Ambassador to Great Britain, and Richard Washburn Child, American Ambassador to Italy, have had their resignations accepted by President Coolidge has let loose a flood of political speculation. Here are some of the possibilities that may grow out of it:

Henry Cabot Lodge, senior Senator from Massachusetts, and the leader of the Republican party in the Senate, might round out his career at the Court of St. James by resigning from the Senate. He is 73 years old and the burdens of leadership in the coming session of Congress are bound to be a strain. Lodge would find an opportunity to continue his literary work, which has been interrupted in recent years. His appointment would mean a continuance of the tradition that literary men are sent by America to Great Britain, and vice versa—a tradition that embraces men like James Russell Lowell, James Bryce, Whitelaw Reid and Walter Hines Page.

Political Conditions Favorable. One of the two places made vacant by the department of state's announcement will naturally go to Massachusetts as Richard Washburn Child is a Massachusetts man. If Lodge does not resign, there is the possibility that William M. Butler, Republican National Committeeman from Massachusetts, may be asked to go to London. His acceptance would mean his own elimination from the Republican senatorial race, thus paving the way for Channing Cox, present Governor of Massachusetts, who is credited with a desire to go to the Senate. The Republicans in the Bay State are so confident that Calvin Coolidge will be on the presidential ticket that they consider it certain their senatorial candidate will be swept into victory on the same occasion against Senator David Walsh, Democrat.

It also is possible that the Republicans of Massachusetts would feel that this is a good time to assure the election of two Republicans to the Senate, as they had a hard time in 1922 in squeezing in a victory for Lodge. Aside from the Massachusetts situation, the most likely men to be appointed to the European posts are Charles B. Warren of Detroit, who after returning from a splendid service as American Ambassador to Japan, won the commendation of President Coolidge and Secretary Hughes for his work as American Ambassador to Mexico. He was asked if he would become Ambassador to Mexico, but he said to have declined with the statement that he would prefer to go to Europe. He might be sent either to London or Rome as he is esteemed a capable diplomat by the President and Secretary of State.

Lowden Also Mentioned. Former Gov. Frank Lowden of Illinois is another man who is being mentioned for the post at London. He was originally tendered the place informally by President Harding, but declined on account of obstacles which since are believed to have been removed.

All the men mentioned are fully capable of meeting the financial requirements of the American embassies abroad. This was the basic reason for the resignations of both Harvey and Child. When this correspondent on April 27 last wrote a dispatch saying Ambassador Harvey was finding the London job too expensive and had applied for leave of absence to talk things over with President Harding, the prediction was made that the American Ambassador would ultimately have to come back to America.

This was coupled with the assertion that Harvey was also itching to get back into the political fray. When on May 18, another dispatch was written asserting that Harvey had brought a score of trunks filled with official papers to the White House and he would not long remain as Ambassador to Great Britain, cautiously worded denials were issued from official quarters.

President Harding really tried to persuade Harvey to keep on at London and while the latter went back to London, with the hope that he might continue for a short time longer the duties of President Harding brought matters to a climax and the resignation was passed on to Mr. Coolidge for action along with the routine resignations of all the other Ambassadors in the beginning of a new administration.

Acceptance Not a Surprise. The acceptance of the Harvey resignation is not a surprise, therefore, as the way is now opened for him to get into the campaign. When he and Mrs. Harvey stayed at the White House recently as the guests of President and Mrs. Coolidge it was suspected that Mr. Harvey's support for the forthcoming campaign was an assured fact. There are rumors, however, that some of the "irreconcilables" want him to employ his satirical pen once more in the interest of one of their candidates, but this at the moment seems unlikely. As for Child, he supported himself at Rome largely by his continued writing of fiction for American publications, but is said to have tired of this. His sensational speech in favor of fascism and his public praise of Mussolini, which some international lawyers said was a diplomatic indiscretion was made at a time when he had already decided to resign. Child is known to be a close friend of President Coolidge and it would not be surprising if he were tendered an important place in the Coolidge administration on this side of the Atlantic.

Tug From Liquor Revenue Boat Docks Where

THE "rum-running" vessels were selling liquor to be smuggled into the city, but this far from actual operations.

The Post-Dispatch, in conjunction with the city police, has now engaged in this trade for the fourth of a series of eight articles, and the methods by which the smugglers, life on board ship, side customers and the big men in the "business" who prey upon the "pirates" who prey upon the launches and tugs that bring the goods to the city.

CHAPTER IV

PAYING FOR PROTECTION.

By One of the Crew.

We had three motor boats loading alongside one day. The crew of two were putting their whisky in sacks on deck. The third was loading cases, about 200. It was quite a big launch, and the man in charge of it was standing on top of the wheelhouse superintending the loading. He had his pocket wide open so that every one could see the cash coming from his belt.

It was my watch and I was standing with Bill on the tower bridge deck. Bill by this time had become quite friendly and communicative and used to tell me all about the customers with whom he was acquainted; and as he had been at the bootlegging business himself, there were few of our customers he didn't know. We were discussing the matter with the Capt. Bill didn't have a great opinion of him.

"He's real bad, that guy," I said, "from his lid to his boots. He plugged two men that I know with that little pea shooter he packed and I'll have to hand it to him that he's a dandy shot, but he's careful when he shoots and he always shoots where it don't hurt much. He hasn't the guts to carry a decent gun, an' if it came to a fight he'd lie down. He's protected all through and would never take a chance."

Rum Running Made Easy.

"Tell me about protection, Bill."

I asked.

"Wall," Bill answered, "protection's the passing of dollars to Federal men."

"What's that?" I asked.

"That's what they call it. If you've got enough they'll let you alone. You don't suppose our tug gets into New York for nothing, do ye?"

I had thought about this matter a good deal and wondered how it was done. Our tug was the one used by Mr. R. himself for carrying his stuff ashore, although he took care never to be on board of it himself with a load.

"She would load about 2500 cases during the day, but always left about 8 at night. I thought at first that she was waiting for darkness to run this stuff ashore, but Bill enlightened me on this matter and explained the inner workings of bootlegging."

The tug would pass through the Narrows at a certain prearranged time and be met by a dishonest revenue boat that would see her safely to the wharf where motor trucks and gang of men were all waiting to rush the stuff away. The tug's crew had to be paid the dishonest Federal men had to be paid, the wharfmen had to be paid. So also had the policeman on duty at the wharf, the police near the store where the liquor was kept before being distributed to the thirty people who bought it from Mr. R. Can one wonder that it costs a dollar a drink?

Bill told me of his own affair with the police and Federal men. He had started off by paying for protection, but they wanted too much, so he had tried to run his cargo without it. Disastrous work! They had caught him, and it cost him the few thousand dollars he had to square them. They hadn't been satisfied with this, and had framed a charge of piracy against him. A good lawyer had managed to get him cleared for the few dollars he had left, and he was now broke and lying low. I was very sorry for the shyster as he called them, but was going to take a chance again when his affairs had blown over and been forgotten.

To "take a chance" was a great expression with the bootleggers. A group of them would meet on a deck and discuss likely landing places for their liquor. These were constantly changing among the non-protected men, and these discussions always ended with: "Yes, I take a chance at Pat's Inlet," or some other place well known among themselves.

They were a pretty cheerful crowd, our customers. Nothing but the hell-fire smugglers about the city, although they all packed guns. I always felt that their cheerful faces and optimistic point of view were forced and not at all natural. They looked like men who held their cheap and were prepared to stave off a good account of themselves in a rough-house.

Price Constantly Rising.

Bill's idea was that they were paying for protection about how much protection they would have to pay. He explained to me, every time the landed a cargo, went the price of protection.

"A man's a fool to pay protection as all," said Bill. "I've seen more chances of getting out of the clutches as a celluloid dog has."

Tug From Liquor Ship Met by Revenue Boat and Escorted to Docks Where Trucks Await Cargo

Graft Paid Five Times Between Rum Row Off Sandy Hook and First Sale From Warehouse to Bootleggers.

THE "rum-running" vessels which hang outside the three-mile limit, selling liquor to be smuggled into this country, have received world-wide attention, but this far little has been told from the inside of their actual operations.

The Post-Dispatch, in conjunction with the Manchester Guardian, is now able to give the complete narrative of a member of the crew of a ship engaged in this trade for five months off the American coast. This is the fourth of a series of eight articles. The writer describes in detail the organization and methods by which the trade is carried on, the devices of the smugglers, life on board ship, the type of men who are their over-ride customers and the big men in the background.

Conditions on "Rum Row," where the ships are moored, the methods of the "pirates" who prey upon the rum ships, the adventures of the launches and tugs that bring the drink ashore are also related. The writer is a seaman of wide experience in the mercantile marine.

CHANCELLOR UNABLE TO GET A MAJORITY

Doubtful Whether He Will Succeed in Forming New Ministry, Owing to the Reactionaries' Program.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Oct. 5.—The German Democratic party in the Reichstag today adopted a resolution declaring that the party could not support a government which had no parliamentary basis. As the majority of the other parties have already adopted the same view, it is not believed that Chancellor Stresemann will try to form a Cabinet without having the support of the parliamentary parties.

BERLIN, Oct. 5.—Chancellor Stresemann's chance of forming a new Cabinet seems dubious. He cannot get a Reichstag majority because the National reactionaries are against him, on the one side, and the Socialists and communists on the other. There is hope that he can build a Cabinet "of strong personalities" and dissolve the Reichstag, creating his own dictatorship, but it is extremely doubtful that the reactionaries will let him.

Herr Stresemann failed in his first advances to the industrial reactionaries, when Minow, general director for Hugo Stinnes, refused to enter the Cabinet. Minow evidently is holding out to enter a strong reactionary government, minus Stresemann.

Stinnes has picked a directorate which is expected to run Germany, according to the moderate Catholic party's organ, Germania. There was a meeting last week in Stinnes' office, says Germania, where it was decided to break the Stresemann Government, replacing it with a small directorate. Germania says Herr Stresemann, a "well-known General," who is evidently Von Seeck, and a "leading industrialist," evidently Minow, are the three directing forces.

Would End Eight-Hour Day.

Stinnes is planning to take over and run Germany himself. Several other ministries are to be combined to make a smaller Cabinet, which will form a directorate. The Reichstag is expected to meet just long enough to pass a law giving them plenary powers for six months and then go home.

The first thing they plan and they can hardly wait to do is to abolish the eight-hour day and try to put Germany back on a paying basis in their own way. The Cabinet will be a board of directors for this big factory called Germany. Germany will become in fact what it has long been intended to be—an industrial feudal state.

Heavy industry has gone about it directly, not to say roughly. They have thrown the Socialists out, though they still hold hope to the hesitant Socialists that they can all make money. They are good. They are crushing Germany into a new form—industrial barons on one side and the proletariat, working 10 hours daily, on the other.

Masses Left in Doubt.

The working masses are left in doubt where they stand. The Socialists, knowing what fate is overtaking them, hesitated two days before they let the Government fall, but the industrial barons got a strangle hold on the People's party and the Socialists were forced to leave. The Socialists now know that they are broken down by the nationalistic wave. The industrialists, wishing to break their power, needed only to point to their consistent refusal of the fulfillment policy to insure their downfall.

Paris Hears German Government Has Paid Ruhr Workers for October.

PARIS, Oct. 5.—A message to the Havas Agency from Munich today reads: "The Bavarian Premier has invited the Government of the Reich to suspend the collection of the new taxation voted by the Reichstag."

Dr. von Kahr, the Bavarian military dictator, has compelled the Xaverian branch of the Reichsbank, which wished to send its gold reserve to Berlin, to abandon this action, and to unload the cars which were ready to leave.

Germany's Rival "Dictators"

At the left is the calm and scholarly Dr. Otto Gessler, Minister of Defense of the Berlin Government. At the right is Dr. August von Kahr who has been given autocratic powers to preserve the peace and integrity of Bavaria by the Munich Government, between which and the Berlin Government there is great friction with the resulting effect of a threat by Bavaria to secede from the German federation. It is Dr. Gessler's task to hold Bavaria in line and he is authorized to take whatever measures even to a resort to force of arms that are necessary to achieve this purpose.

This is one of a series of intimate stories concerning President Coolidge, as related by his townfolk in Northampton, Mass., where Coolidge still remains just "Cal."

THERE is one man in Northampton to whom every one refers questions about Cal Coolidge—Henry P. Field. "Judge" Field, as he is known in spite of the fact that he looks and acts much more like a Northerner's conception of a Southern "Cunnel," loves to talk about Cal.

"You know I've never been able to figure that man," he will say, leaning his neatly cropped white head against the back of the big chair in his office and letting an eddy of cigar smoke curl up through his white mustache. "There used to be an old doctor in town here. He told a friend of mine once that he was sure to die. He didn't die. The next time the doctor met him on the street he said, 'Young man, you've destroyed all the symptoms of death.' Well, that's the way it is with Cal Coolidge."

"We always thought before he came along that a man to be successful in politics had to be an orator. Cal has done more talking in recent years, but he'll never be an orator. We always thought he had to be a mixer. Well, Cal's not that."

"What Cal has done, as I see it, is to study politics just as most fellows do law. He thinks a long time before he does anything—that's another trait we thought no politician could have and succeed—and when he does it he is sure it is right. He's developed politics into a science instead of a sport. He's never lost a campaign and it looks like he'll never lose one."

"He's got a fine, clear brain and he uses it. He knows all there is to know about anything before giving an opinion. Once he has made up his mind he is hard to swerve. He's always been a strong party man. His appointments have always been in the party. But he's always boss of whatever job he's got. The politicians down at Washington, my guess is, will find that out pretty quickly. He'll play ball, but he's got to be left alone."

GHOST OF CORFU INCIDENT STILL HAUNTS ALLIED COUNCIL

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The ghost of the Corfu incident insists on haunting the corridors of the Council of Ambassadors at Paris despite diplomatic efforts to lay it.

The three Colonels—Japanese, British and French—appointed to inquire into the murder of the Italian mission, are indignant at the indignity ordered paid by Greece and have insisted, against the wishes of the Ambassadors, on making a final report.

The Japanese especially insist that the commission's dignity has been insulted by the action taken in contravention of what the mission of inquiry learned. The three Colonels report that the phrase in their preliminary dispatch, indicating negligence on the part of Greek subsidiary officials, did not mean the Greek Government was responsible in any way, and it should not be made the basis of an indemnity award.

Not only, the report says, did the commission fail to solve the mystery of the murders, but no evidence was found that any Greeks had part in it. The report ends by expressing regret at the findings reached by the Ambassadors before waiting for the result of the inquiry.

Tellini, the murdered Italian General, the murdered Italian General, had more than once refused a Greek offer to give him a guard of Greek soldiers.

France Would Avoid Intervention in Internal Affairs.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News.
(Copyright, 1923.)

PARIS, Oct. 5.—The policy of the French Government in face of the present political convulsions in Germany is being formulated along lines of nonintervention in German internal affairs.

The Germans may have any kind of government they please, so far as France is concerned, from a royalist to a communist regime. However, French troops will continue to insure order in the occupied regions and France and Belgium will continue to occupy the Ruhr until the Germans begin to make a serious effort to fulfill the terms of the Versailles treaty.

Meanwhile, the occupying Powers will attempt to organize co-operation with the inhabitants of the occupied zone, so as to bring about a resumption of deliveries in kind.

"SUPREME COURT SHUFFLE" GIVEN KNOCKOUT BLOW

Orders Entered Dismissing 58 Appeals in Criminal Cases and Three in Bond Forfeitures.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 5.—The "Supreme Court Shuffle," an ingenious scheme by which convicted criminals were saved from serving penitentiary sentences in a large number of cases, was given a knockout blow by the Supreme Court yesterday when orders were entered dismissing 58 appeals in criminal cases and three appeals in bond forfeitures.

Prosecuting Attorneys were notified of the court action that they might take necessary steps to get the defendants into custody.

The scheme, as has been explained in the Post-Dispatch, was for the convicted defendant in a criminal case to appeal to the Supreme Court and then fail to perfect the appeal. The Supreme Court has not assumed jurisdiction of cases until appeals were perfected. Appeals having been taken, the Circuit Courts appeared to believe the cases had passed out of their jurisdiction. The result has been that in a large number of cases the defendants were at liberty on parole, while their cases slept some place between the two courts.

Result of Action by Barrett.

Attorney-General Barrett several months ago learned of the situation, made an investigation, and filed motions asking that all cases in which appeals had not been perfected be dismissed.

Thirty-eight of the 58 appeals dismissed were cases in the St. Louis courts. It is now the duty of Circuit Attorney Sidener to notify the Sheriff to bring in the defendants in these cases for sentence.

Bond Forfeiture Cases.

The bond forfeiture appeals dismissed were:

Case of Everett Brunyard, bond of $500 with Adolph C. Wiget, former State Senator, as surety. Appeal granted Jan. 31, 1919.

Case of Lynn W. Paul, alias Lennan W. Paul, bond of $500, with Julian W. Pilsnik as surety. Appeal granted Oct. 3, 1919.

An Intimate Pen Sketch of President Coolidge, as Drawn by a Newspaper Man

New Executive Possesses and Exercises Gift of Facile Speech, Has Vein of Dry Humor and Light-Lipped Little Smile.

By CHARLES G. ROSS,

Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Observers at the Capitol have now had time to come to some matured judgments about the man that for two months ago, catapulted into the presidency.

In the first place, the estimate of Mr. Coolidge as the incarnation of silence has had to be revised. He possesses and exercises a gift of facile speech. He can give a concise, informative answer to a question or can talk all around a subject in generalities. Numerous callers at the White House have remarked, on departing, that Mr. Coolidge kept their preconceptions by talking readily on a variety of subjects.

Manner Utterly Even.

At the twice-a-week "press conferences" where newspaper men submit written questions on a multiplicity of current topics, Mr. Coolidge is sometimes positively loquacious. Mr. Harding at these conferences was frequently communicative but there were times when he disposed of the entire lot of questions rather brusquely. The expansive manner that he carried into the presidency faded somewhat under the strain of his office. Whether he talked to the newspaper men or not depended on the mood of the moment. Mr. Coolidge, to date, has shown to his correspondents but one mood. His manner is utterly even. He is the same on Friday as on Tuesday.

Taking up the batch of questions, he adjusts his spectacles, reads the question, and then answers it in an inquiry (accent on the second syllable) on a certain subject and proceeds to deliver himself of his answer. A stenographer sitting at his right takes down his remarks. If he is not entirely satisfied with the question he puts it aside without comment. Efforts to draw the President out on the World Court have gone unrewarded.

Methodically, the President goes through the questions, taking on some of them at considerable length. He picks his words carefully but without apparent effort. There is rarely any fumbling for a phrase, and he is rarely at a loss. Like the late President but often exhibits a vein of dry humor. Now and then he permits himself a light-lipped little smile.

Courteous and Considerate.

Like his predecessor, he is courteous and considerate. He is willing to repeat for the benefit of a late comer. He has not yet "lectured" the press as Mr. Harding, being a newspaper man, felt that he was privileged to do.

In an orderly way, without hurry and equally without waste of time, Mr. Coolidge says what he wants to say at the press conferences, informs his callers that he believes this is all today, and sits down to an orderly and begins work on another job.

The desk is the same that Mr. Harding used, but it wears a much altered aspect. Mr. Harding generally had a stack of papers in front of him. The Coolidge desk looks always as if a careful housewife had just straightened it up.

Desk Kept in Order.

A few references look like they stand in perfect alignment and in front of them are one or two papers on which the President is immediately engaged; to the right of the papers is a row of freshly sharpened lead pencils laid out as symmetrically as if on display in a stationer's window. At the right-hand far corner of the desk stands a silk American flag, presented to the President by Mrs. Frank W. Stearns of Boston, wife of his political mentor and guide.

"Sunshine on Frosty Morning."

Comparisons between Harding and Coolidge are inevitable. They are drawn here and there with intent, but to throw whatever light is possible on the personality of the new President. Thus Mr. Harding had a warm, mellow quality about him that attracted nearly everybody with whom he came in contact. The radiance of him was that of noonday. Mr. Coolidge's, such as it is, reminds one of sunshine on a frosty morning.

In no respect is the dissimilarity between the two men more marked than in their voices.

Mr. Harding's had the mellowness that distinguished his whole make-up; Mr. Coolidge's voice has a slight nasal twang, not nearly so pronounced, however, as it might make it appear. It is not a colorful voice, but it carries well. Mr. Harding had a way of dropping his voice at the end of a sentence so that it was sometimes hard for those in the rear rows of the press conference to follow him. Mr. Coolidge articulates with greater care and precision. He says "problem" with strict attention to the short "e" sound in the last syllable.

TANGIER CONFERENCE AGREED ON Internationalization to Form Basis of Discussions.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Affiliated experts who have been conferring here have reached an agreement to hold a plenary conference on the Tangier question. It was announced today.

Attention to the short "e" sound in the last syllable.

There was a certain self-effacement in the late President that led him to speak of himself in his presidential capacity in the third person. Nearly always it was "The Executive," not "I," who favored this or that policy. Mr. Coolidge does not interlard his discourse with the peculiar pronoun, but he makes no bones about saying "I" when he states an opinion.

"Cautious" Allowed to Stand.

The revision which estimates of Mr. Coolidge have undergone since he became President does not embrace the popular conception of his caution.

"Cautious Cal Coolidge" must be allowed to stand to do its alliterative worst or best by the new President. The loquacity which has been mentioned as some times apparent in his discourse does not betoken any carelessness.

Like all skilled practitioners of the art of politics, Mr. Coolidge can clothe his thought in pleasant or ringing generalities that will be found, on analysis, not to be highly illuminating. As well as the next man, Mr. Coolidge can dress up the modesty of his work in a critical spirit but only to record the fact. When a President is called upon to issue messages to the people on "education week," "patriot week," "safety week" and other weeks of the modern calendar, it is important that he know how to express the obvious. Mr. Harding's ability in this direction was one of the prime causes of his election as President. Mr. Coolidge who hopes to be similarly honored, is not to be blamed if he makes the most of his own undoubted gifts.

Work on Systematic Basis.

From what has been said of the orderly character of the Coolidge regime it is a fair inference that he has got the work of the executive office on a more systematic basis than Mr. Harding had it. That is the case. Mr. Coolidge is leaving most of the routine work to his subordinates.

Shortly after he took office, George Christian, acting as secretary, laid on his desk a mass of documents from the Department of Justice. Christian said that he himself saw no reason why the department should not be called on to prepare the papers, but that he had been unable to persuade Mr. Harding to do so. Christian noticed the next day that the papers were missing from the President's desk. They had been sent back to the department to be briefed.

When Mr. Coolidge came in, politicians of the practical type were in the anxious seat.

Their fears that he would not be accessible were soon removed. All the political captains who have called at the White House—and they have come by scores—have been received. They have found in their way singing praises of the President's cordiality and gratitude for his generous allowance of time.

Politicians Put at Ease.

If word was needed, after the appointment of Bascom Slemp as his secretary, to dispel their misgivings, it has been furnished by Mr. Coolidge's "new" manner. The adjective is that of Fred Upson, treasurer of the Republican National Committee. He said after a recent call at the White House that he had found a "new Coolidge" in the president. Examination of all the public expressions of President Coolidge would show that he has made few if any commitments of any consequence beyond the general promise to support the Harding policies. His policies with regard to prohibition, amnesty, the soldiers' bonus, the merchant marine, the railroads are all yet to be disclosed. It is highly improbable that there will be an extra session of Congress, but in all White House announcements on the subject it has been said that Mr. Coolidge does not wish to foreclose the future. Caution is stamped on all his utterances.

Attitude on World Court.

Cautious in his attitude toward the World Court. His present intention, it appears, is to come to the Senate of all shades of opinion, including Democrats, before charting a definite course. That Mr. Coolidge is eager to avoid bringing on a fight over the sports issue is quite obvious.

Canny Mr. Coolidge wants stability in the country and harmony in the philosophy, they are desirable in themselves, but because they will serve his perfectly natural ambition to succeed himself as President.

question. It was announced today.

The internationalization of Tangier will form the basis of the discussions, which probably will be called into session soon after the conclusion of the imperial conference. The negotiations will be confined to Great Britain, France, Spain and a representative of the Sultan of Morocco.

A Klan Defender.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I HAVE read your editorial, "Ku Klux Dupe." In the first place you have made statements which absolutely are false and you put forth facts which you know nothing about, to make your argument sound reasonable. When you state that the flaming cross is exclusive, signifying not help and not good will, not charity, but opposition to, distrust and suspicion, if not hatred of millions of people of the United States, you are stating just the opposite of what it really stands for. It is a strange thing that not belonging to the Klan, you should be so sure of your ground, and so sure just what the beliefs of the Klan really are.

As far as persecution of the negro is concerned, the Klan stands forth to help the race, and I personally know a number of cases where negro families have been helped with food, clothing, and others have been secured employment. But they do stand for white supremacy, first, last and all the time, and not to allow them to marry with whites, thus hurting both races.

As far as hating the Jew is concerned, you are wrong again. But they do insist that their members deal with one another and help one another in every possible way. That applies also to Catholics. Do not the two above mentioned follow out this policy in every way possible?

Your contrast drawn between the Red Cross and the Flery Cross is hardly a fair one. Without a doubt the work of the Red Cross, and the good they do, can hardly be overestimated. But you did not stop to mention that the money they spend is in a great measure being donated by klanmen on account of the very large membership which they have. Would not the Red Cross be helpless without the money which is given freely by all classes? While the good being done by these men is not published in headlines by papers all over the country, their works of charity go on and on, just the same. You speak of them as narrow minded, hate-breeding organization. And I suppose you make this statement because it is their aim to uphold all that is decent, right and true manhood. While a great many whippings have been laid at their door, did you ever hear of a Catholic or Jew receiving such treatment?

If a klanman lives up to half of his obligations, he will make the very highest type of citizen that it is possible to produce. And if, as you state, we are all Ku Klux dupes, it is not strange that the Klan membership is composed of men who hold the highest positions in the land, who would not for one minute stand for the things which you have stated in your article? The Klan is not composed of the riff-raff. The Klan is not composed of the riff-raff. If you knew the personality of the men who head the Klan in your own city, it would surely give you a large surprise. Also here I would like to mention that only a short time ago there was added to this membership in your own city over 2000 men.

Also I would like to mention that all during Gov. Walton's reign of terror at Oklahoma City you have printed facts which were a tissue of lies from start to finish. I do not say that, but it was either that, or you did not take the trouble to find out the truth. M. F. REYNOLDS.

Malden, Mo.

(The value of the assertions in the above letter may be judged from the fact that the writer charges that the news from Oklahoma published by the Post-Dispatch during the Walton "reign of terror," as the writer calls it, "were a tissue of lies from start to finish." In other words, the Associated Press and the Post-Dispatch special staff correspondents sent out false reports regarding every happening. A writer who would make such a charge as this is absolutely unworthy of credit. He is a fair sample of klan intelligence.—Editor Post-Dispatch.)

The Lincoln Housing Trust.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

BEFORE Mr. Millespach in his double capacity of receiver for housing trusts and State Commissioner of Finance, charged with the regulation of building and loan associations, gives his final permission for the Lincoln Housing Trust to operate as a building and loan association, don't you think he should give the public a detailed statement of the affairs of that concern and its plans? What has been done about the conference Mr. Millespach was to have had with building and loan interests that are existing upon liquidation of the Lincoln, which, I notice, has now been sued for an accounting?

There are over a hundred thousand members of building and loan associations in Missouri whose representatives insist that Millespach be careful about validating a conversion plan that might invite future litigation and consequent publicity detrimental to the conservative old associations.

IMPERIAL DEMOCRACY.

The Premiers of the British Empire are gathered in London to discuss foreign affairs. In such simple forms are announcements made that democracy moves forward. Up to 1907, when the first imperial conference was held, the idea of consulting the dominions on foreign relations of the British Empire was unheard of. Foreign affairs were the province of Great Britain, whose Government, working behind a veil, made treaties, agreements, policies and mistakes. Announcements were handed down to the dominions, which shared in the resulting advantages and handicaps, promises and dangers.

In the conference of 1907 the Dominion Premiers called to London sat at the feet of the Premier of Great Britain, listened to a recital of what had been done, and returned to their remote states to report that all was well. In 1909, alarmed by the new German navy law, the conference was devoted to a discussion of the defense of the empire. London laid its cards on the table, and showed signs of trouble ahead. Suggestions were made by visitors that possibly matters had not been handled as intelligently as they should have been, since such a mess had been made of it. Plain words frequently act as clarifiers of muddled situations. When the conference of 1911 was called, foreign policy was placed on the agenda, and Sir Edward Grey took the Dominion Premiers into the confidence of the British Foreign Office. He showed that Germany seemed bent on war. An intense discussion followed, not specifically upon what would happen in a war, but upon what exactly were the relations between Great Britain and the British dominions overseas. Was the British Empire a democracy? Here was a war coming on which would involve Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Newfoundland, and India with its 200,000,000 people, and the decision in the policies rested with Great Britain alone. Was that right?

London and the dominions mulled over this for three years, and then came the war. Democracy came out of the war well advanced, and the theory of self-determination was much talked about afterwards. In the conference of 1921 the matter was thoroughly threshed out. Canada led the way. Premier Meighen made demands of a most astounding nature. The dominions must take part in the making of agreements or they would not be bound by them. The Anglo-Japanese treaty must be abandoned. In all discussions with the United States, Canada's voice must be the deciding one. The dominions had become the strength of the empire, they must know beforehand what calls might be made upon that strength. Great Britain could no longer declare war for the dominions. They would do that for themselves. Other dominions followed Canada's lead, and forthwith democracy moved forward to a higher and surer position. Lloyd George then announced in Parliament that "the formation of the general policy of the Commonwealth is now in the hands of all the peoples of the Commonwealth represented in the imperial conference, acting through their Prime Ministers."

Since then two significant passages are recorded. When the Turkish affair was approaching its crisis, Lloyd George asked the dominions individually whether the British Government could have their assistance if it should be decided to oppose the crossing of the Turks into Europe. The other was the signing of a treaty with the United States to regulate halibut fishing. This was signed by the Canadian Minister alone.

The present conference is called ostensibly to discuss the expense incident to the defense of the empire. Great Britain is willing, even anxious, that the dominions take over large parcels of this expense. The question likely to be most thoroughly discussed is the European situation. Premier Baldwin is about to find out just what he can do concerning the Ruhr.

HARVEY'S PROGRAM COMPLETED.

The resignation of Col. Harvey from his post as Ambassador of Isolation at the Court of St. James has been announced. The reason given is that he wishes to be relieved of the financial burden. That burden must be heavy, indeed, if it can drive Harvey back into the field of American journalism under a political administration with which he has been identified. With all his wealth of satirical power, what would Harvey be as a journalist under the necessity of agreeing with everything done at Washington?

There seems to be but one possible future for Col. Harvey in the American journalistic field, and that is the contingency of a change of administration.

YES, TRY IT, UNCLE SAM.

(From the Detroit News.)

DO YOU THINK PROHIBITION
CAN BE ENFORCED?

YOU NEVER CAN TELL—
LET'S TRY IT

The Harvey foreign policy is in full bloom. Much has been wrecked and almost nothing done. The Government he helped to power scarcely dares answer a communication from the League of Nations lest it be charged with toleration of the sins attributed to that organization. As a missionary of isolation Col. Harvey ought to be satisfied with his record. But it would be unfair to suspect him of being satisfied with the results.

THE FLYING CIVILIANS.

A significant phase of flight development, which has not attracted public attention, is revealed in the On-to-St. Louis air race. Every section of the country was represented in the contest. In a wide variety of craft the entrants flew here from Garden City, L. I.; Chicago, Washington, Okmulgee, Ok.; Tampico, Ill.; Pine Valley, N. J.; Wichita, Kan.; Indianapolis, Ind.; Dayton, O., and Macon, Mo.

The race was for civilians only. The response, as geographically shown, was national. From north, south, east and west, they came. It is a matter of note, too, that the Kansas contestant was a woman.

The progress of aviation, manifestly, is not confined to scientific and professional channels. True, the engineers, builders and pilots are steadily making advances. It is upon their genius, skill and courage that the final emergence of this enterprise from romance to utility depends. But surely it is emerging. When an entire nation as extensive as ours is, by proxy of its pioneers, actually engaged in flying, when the airplane whirrs up of a morning from obscure towns as well as from great cities, when the aviator, compositely, might write his name after the fashion of Eugene Field's American in Europe—"John Smith, U. S. A."—a long and reassuring step has been taken towards the utilitarian goal.

It were premature to say that the people are flying, but the map of the On-to-St. Louis air race warrants the statement that the people are beginning to fly.

FLEXIBLE STATISTICS.

The Bureau of Municipal Research finds city functionaries in possession of a great variety of statistics on the subject of garbage disposal and also contributes the important information that none of them happens to be correct. Incineration costs, given out officially at $1.75 to $3.02 a ton, the bureau finds, should have been $4.99 for the first five months of the operation of the plant and $3.43 for the last five months. The plant at the foot of Chouteau, which, according to city statistics, takes care of 80 to 100 tons daily, actually has been burning only 52 1/2 tons a day for the past 125 days. Director of Streets and Sewers Fisk gave the cost of garbage collection with present equipment at $6.84 a ton, but as he wanted a purchase of new, improved equipment approved by the Board of Aldermen and Comptroller he quoted the figures for only one district. The Research Bureau finds the cost for the entire city to be but $3.96 1/2 a ton.

While we do not accept the bureau's figures as infallible, we find the discrepancy with the city statistics and the discrepancy of the city statistics with each other exceedingly interesting. As we have no other check on the city we cannot but welcome an independent agency into the statistical arena. We only hope that the bureau hereafter can give us pre-mortem instead of post-mortem figures on tests preceding the acceptance by the city of contract work with a capacity guarantee. As it is, the bureau's contribution to an understanding of municipal economics and statistics is valuable, and, fortunately, the city hall machine cannot vote it out of existence.

WHO IS IMPUDENT NOW?

New York, says Frank A. Munsey, has financed the national campaigns of both Democratic and Republican parties for 50 years. Therefore, he curtly told a committee created to corral the next Democratic national convention and the Republican convention in 1928, a rejection of New York's invitation by either party would be "little short of impudent."

If the financiers of New York can dictate the location of the national conventions by the rattle of the pursed today, then we are not so far from the "good old days." And when New York dictates the place it can also dictate the platforms and policy of candidates after they are elected. Mr. Munsey's political syllogism, carried to its logical conclusion, covers a great deal of ground and inevitably invites the question: "Who is impudent now?"

THE OLD WORLD.

BERLIN.—Collapse of the mark in Germany is a tragedy unlike anything most of us have ever seen. Fortunately, in going into the country, we had taken with us two hundred $1 American banknotes. They made a packet almost the size of a brick. This became such a nuisance that we had finally to make Polemarchus carry it, which he did with bad grace, usually juggling behind him, but we finally got into Germany with it.

These two hundred American $1 bills promised for a time to rehabilitate the finances of Germany. Mr. Antwine thinks if we had got there six months sooner with them they would have done so. At any rate, there was a stir in Berlin when everybody saw what Polemarchus was lugging about, and except for them we would be as badly off for money as the Germans themselves.

The Germans, in truth, have no money. One day, seeing us get out our $1 bills, a man followed us into the street.

"I would like to buy some of those," he said. "Polemarchus was for selling all of them to the highest bidder, but Socrates and Mr. Antwine stepped forward to demur."

"We cannot sell them," said Socrates. "If we did, we would be as badly off as you are."

The man agreed that this was true, and the incident closed.

If you cash a traveler's check for $50 in Germany the value of the marks you receive for it may go off 50 per cent within an hour. With us it did not matter so much. We had only to hearken Polemarchus forward when we wanted to buy something, take out one of our $1 bills, and let the Germans keep the change.

If you took the change with you it would be more than all of us could carry and you could not buy anything with it. In all the shops the clerks are provided with a card carrying the price proportions for the day. Thus, if an article is four million marks and the mark has gone off 50 per cent during the morning, the price of the article becomes six million marks.

This is not easy for the trades people and the clerks of Germany. It is terrible for all those who work for wages, for the butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker. We do not feel comfortable about it.

"I never felt so much like a dog in my life," Mr. Antwine said. "These people had nothing to do with the causes which brought them to this plight. They are a fine people who have been exploited by politicians and gunmen. They were once happy and prosperous, but they were like every people in not knowing what their Government was up to or what unseen hands were pulling strings."

"This expressed what we all feel, as you would feel it could you be here and watch some little sales girl try to figure through multiplications beyond the education of anyone but a professor of mathematics."

"They cannot count so high," said the forewoman who was going from girl to girl trying to help them out.

Berlin does not treasure the memory of the Kaiser. It thinks he proved himself at the last not much of a soldier. His palace here has become a museum.

"It was from that portico that the Kaiser declared war and Ebert subsequently declared the republic," said an informant who was showing us about the place.

At the head of the great staircase in the palace is a marble statue of Julius Caesar. Evidently Caesar was the Kaiser's military model.

"Maybe it was to escape the fate of Caesar that he hid into Holland when the blow-off came," Mr. Antwine said.

That amused us, as it did also to be shown the room in which Col. Roosevelt slept when he visited the Kaiser.

"You mean where he passed the night. He never slept," said Socrates.

All cities in Europe have triumphal arches in the manner of the Romans. On one of these in Berlin there is a chariotier driving four great bronze horses.

"Napoleon took that to Paris when he was up here, and Von Moltke went down and brought it back in 1870," said the guide.

That is what they mostly wait for in Europe—revenge. If our own country were broken up into as many flags and tongues as there are over here we would have the same thing at home.

"Those bronze horses are a sufficient index to the history of Europe," Mr. Antwine said. "Some day, likely as not, the French will come back and get them. Then the Germans will get them back again, and so on through the various conquerors that afflict this troubled world."

"Imagine Egypt coming up through Europe to recover all the obelisks and Egyptian property of one kind and another they have in all these cities," Mr. Antwine said.

"Who knows?" asked Socrates.

Nobody, of course. The British have enough stuff in their museum to set up a good competent Egyptian dynasty in running order. It simply waits there for the Egyptians to come and get it when they decide to have their second time on earth.

There is no such thing in Berlin as the private automobile. One sees only taxis and trucks. We rode all over the city through the great streets, the parks, the suburbs—a picture in city planning beyond anything we had ever seen—and we were usually alone except for other taxis now and then.

There are no tourists in Germany excepting Austrians. We were told that this is the first year since the war began that the Austrians have been able to travel. Even Germany looks good to them after so long at home.

Sikeston (Mo.) Standard.

The editor of the Reville, published at Linn Creek, grew tired of the merchants telling him that it did not pay to advertise, and therefore added to his printing business a well-selected stock of merchandise. His printing outfit was small and there was room enough in the building to accommodate the printing and the stock of goods. He commenced to advertise his merchandise in a thorough manner and at this time is the leading grocery merchant, the leading shoe dealer, and the leading dry goods merchant in the town. He has not only proved that it pays to advertise, but finds that there is more money in the mercantile business than in the newspaper business and will quit the latter, which has been taxing all his energies for several years without satisfactory compensation.

THE SANCTITY OF CONTRACTS.

From the Brooklyn Eagle.

THE letter of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, addressed to George L. Berry, head of the International Pressmen's Union, is a characteristically straight-forward and vigorous denunciation of an unwarranted strike. The action of the local union whose charter has been revoked by the international body, is not only condemned by disinterested opinion; but, as Mr. Gompers notes, it receives the unqualified reprobation of men who have devoted their lives to the cause of labor.

Mr. Gompers in his letter to Maj. Berry does what Maj. Berry himself did in his dealings with the strikers. He emphasizes the supreme value of labor to the community, and he points out that the laborer is not only the backbone of the nation, but also the backbone of the world. He says the president of the American Federation of Labor, "the pledged faith of organized labor is given to an agreement with employers, and while negotiations to reach an agreement are pending, the membership will enter upon a strike, and we can expect new agreements to be reached between organized labor and employers." There can be only one answer to that question. It is given to organized labor that its pledged faith is respected within its own ranks; that it maintains the sanctity of all contracts into which it enters; that the ruling of its duly constituted authorities is obeyed. The pressmen's strike was a warning and inexcusable adventure. It has failed because it was morally and legally wrong and because public opinion universally condemned it. And foremost among the causes contributing to its failure was the good faith of the international union under the direction of Maj. Berry in passing a sentence of outlawry upon the strikers and making that sentence effective. Maj. Berry's service to organized labor is even more important than his service to the newspapers affected by the strike.

MARS BEYOND OUR RADIO WAVE.

PROF. ROBERT A. MILLIKEN in October Southern.

DESPITE the much-advertised attempts of Tesla and others to pick up wireless waves from Mars, there has been thus far no indication whatever that the music of the spheres, of the hypothetical inhabitants of other spheres, is traveling through space in waves of the wireless type. No one, so far as is now known, has ever picked up any wireless waves save those generated by thunderstorms or by man himself.

Man's knowledge at a given instant of what is going on in his own world has been marvellously advanced through the wireless art; for by means of it we can know here in the United States what is happening in every capital of Europe or Asia, or anywhere on earth. So that, though it is a wish; but man's knowledge of other worlds than ours has not yet been enhanced by the development. So far as we have thus far been able to discover, the only waves of wireless lengths of any sort which are picked up on the earth are produced by standard artificial apparatus somewhere on earth. So that, though the wireless is one of the most useful of all inventions in that it promotes international understanding and good will through facilitating communications, and though it has been of great theoretical value in demonstrating the wave theory of light, it has not opened up new worlds to our perception.

THE Premier said it is advisable in view of World Conditions to "Consolidate Foundation."

By the Associated Press.

TOKIO, Oct. 5.—Premier Yamamoto yesterday issued a statement in which he referred to the reconstruction of the imperial capital as "the hardest task a Government ever faced."

The Premier added that "the financial plan may be formulated, but only partly accomplished, because the project depends entirely upon financial considerations."

With the Washington agreements available only for a limited period, and with growing possibilities of clashes of interests among Powers in general, it is advisable for Japan to direct its efforts at reorganization in such a manner as to consolidate the national foundation."

It Seems to Me

"We profited artistically at the expense of the community. The sport exercises a tremendous influence for good in the community and it might do an even greater service if every critic were compelled to attend at least once a year. From the horsemen we might learn something of high respect for adjectives. The true follower of the turf enforces a precision of speech which is not known elsewhere in this country."

One afternoon we happened to win bet, and in the careless, impulsive way which so often fastens itself upon dramatic critics, we remarked: "That's a great horse."

At the moment the horse seemed all of that. Unfortunately, we addressed the remark to a man concerned in racing and he regarded us with cold hostility and then walked away without explanation. Another member of the group was more charitable in recognizing our inexperience and undertook to point out the grave blunder we had committed.

"King Solomon's Seal," he said, happens to be a fair plate, but if you had been speaking of Zev or My Own, your remark would have been offensive to a true turfman. Down here we are most punctilious about using the phrase 'a great horse.' It isn't done about more than once in a decade. I think you might call Man O' War a great horse, although there are a few who wouldn't even concede that. The rest are good horses or had horses."

This attitude seemed to us merely wacky. Possibly we have an unfortunate tendency always to suspect the sincerity of persons who insist upon precision in expression, but in this case the standard claimed by our turf friend was confirmed the next day. At the Music Box Revue we found out. Max Hirsch in the seat just in front of us. Hirsch trains Sarazen, the grey—we mean the promising two-year-old owned by Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt. Sarazen has won all his races in the most impressive style, upon every sort of track, and has conceded pounds to his competitors. The man next to Hirsch, named over and asked him confidentially: "What do you really think of Sarazen?"

The trainer thought hard and considered his words carefully, and then he replied with bubbling enthusiasm: "I think he's a nice horse."

And that suggests to us a method by which we may in time cure ourself of adjectival recklessness. First of all, we will establish in our mind a picture of the great dormitory in which the adjectives live. At midnight, when the time comes for writing dramatic criticisms, these adjectives are all asleep. Libidinous, hot to cot with Friggle. Whimpering, slaps with his feet on the pillow, and has his head under the pillow, has a smile on his lips. Perhaps he dreams.

But there is no smile upon the face of the sleeper in the next bed or any sign of life save the slightly thesy breathing of one exhausted by protracted work and contentment. And he has earned his rest, for this is intriguing. The bed of Charming has been placed apart in an alcove at the request of the other adjectives, for she snores a little. And to the right of the alcove, upon whose door is a sign which reads "No admittance of the brass pole which descends through an aperture to the street level. His trousers are tucked under his boots and he has retired without removing his socks. This is appalling.

After witnessing the peaceful domesticity of the adjectives at midnight we shall begin to picture that other scene which must occur every evening as the dramatic critics get to work. Such a tumult and a roar. The dormitory of the adjectives is as noisy and more preposterous as a madhouse. Good and Clean collide upon the pole only to discover that their state was unnecessary, since they must wait for Wholesome, who has been and gone these many hours and Artificial is on his toes awaiting the signal. Sophisticated stirs, but turns over and sleep again, for he knows that it is a John M. Golden opening. Advanced and Shocking it up and loosh back and forth, confident that they, too, are in for the night. Suffice it the butt of the humorist and he sadly declines a passer of 50 to 1 that his name will be drawn before the evening is out. With all this in mind, we shall pause the next time the impulse comes to use an adjective. We will not forget the fatigue upon the face of intriguing or the drooping shoulders of Wholesome. No, when we come again to review a show we will bear in mind the woes of all the adjectives and exclaim: "Let them sleep." HEYWOOD BROWN

REBUILDING TOKIO 'HARDEST TASK,' YAMAMOTO SAYS

Premier Says It Is Advisable in View of World Conditions to "Consolidate Foundation."

By the Associated Press.

TOKIO, Oct. 5.—Premier Yamamoto yesterday issued a statement in which he referred to the reconstruction of the imperial capital as "the hardest task a Government ever faced."

The Premier added that "the financial plan may be formulated, but only partly accomplished, because the project depends entirely upon financial considerations."

With the Washington agreements available only for a limited period, and with growing possibilities of clashes of interests among Powers in general, it is advisable for Japan to direct its efforts at reorganization in such a manner as to consolidate the national foundation."

It Seems to Me

"We profited artistically at the expense of the sport exercises a tremendous influence for good in the community and it might do an even better service if every critic were compelled to attend at least once a year. From the horsemen we might learn something of the respect for the horse. The true follower of the art enforces a precision of which is not known elsewhere in this country."

"One afternoon we happened to win the bet, and in the careless, impulsive way which so often fastens itself upon dramatic critics, we remarked: 'That's a great horse.'"

BEYOND OUR RADIO WAVE.

BERT A. MILLIKEN in October Scribner.

The much-advertised attempts of others to pick up wireless waves there has been thus far no indication that the music of the spheres, or the inhabitants of other spheres, through space in waves of the wire. No one, so far as is now known, has picked up wireless waves save those of thunderstorms or by man himself. At a given instant of what is his own world has been marvelously through the wireless air; for by means of knowledge here in the United States what is in every capital of Europe or Asia, or two of the time it happens, but man's knowledge of other worlds has not yet been enhanced by this. So far as we have thus far been covered, the only waves of wireless any sort which are picked up on the produced by standard artificial apparatus on earth. So that, though it is one of the most useful of all inventions, it promotes international understanding and good will through facilitating communication, and though it has been of great value in demonstrating the wave light, it has not opened up new worlds of revelation.

Social News

TO WED TOMORROW

MISS ELEANOR RUTH FOX, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Edward Fox, 4519 Lindell boulevard, will become the bride at 8 o'clock tomorrow night of Dr. George C. Sutcliffe Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Sutcliffe of Hartford, Conn. The ceremony will be performed in the ball room of Hotel Chase, profusely decorated with yellow chrysanthemums. An altar of the blossoms combined with small and flanked on either side with large wicker baskets of flowers will be built at one end of the room, and the bride party will walk through a long aisle of tulle. Mgr. J. J. Tannath will officiate.

The bride will wear an imported gown of white georgette heavily beaded in sequins, veiling white tulle crepe. It is made with a high collar and long sleeves. The skirt drapery, fastened with rhinestone ornaments, is quite long and forms a train. The bride veil is of tulle, and will be caught to her coiffure with a crown of the material flaring back from the face and fastened over her chin with a band of tulle and orange blossoms. She will carry orchids and lilies of the valley. She will wear a diamond and platinum bar pin, the gift of Dr. Sutcliffe. Miss Ethel Fox, as her sister's maid of honor, will be gowned in white chiffon velvet beaded with cut steel beads and simply draped. She will carry Columbia roses. Mrs. Charles A. Shaw, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Helen Degnan of Toledo, a cousin of the bride, will also attend her. Mrs. Shaw will wear blue chiffon velvet and carry golden Ophelia roses, and Miss Degnan will wear rose-colored velvet and carry premier roses. Betty Shaw, niece of the bride, in pink satin and georgette, will be flower girl. Charles Shaw is to be best man, and Robert Fox, uncle of the bride, J. L. McCullough and E. W. Francis, groomsmen.

Five hundred guests have been invited to the ceremony and reception that will follow, after which the bride couple will depart on a motor trip East and North. They will make their home temporarily at a hotel. The out-of-town guests include Mrs. Sutcliffe Sr., Mrs. D. Donovan, grandmother of the bride, of Toledo; Mrs. J. C. Le Due, her aunt, also of Toledo; Miss Ora Parker of Little Rock and Mrs. and Mr. William Coking of Chicago.

Miss Fox was educated at the Ursuline Academy at Toledo, and at Villa Marie Convent, Notre Dame de Grace, Montreal. The family came here five years ago. Dr. Sutcliffe is formerly of London. He was educated in Peterborough Lodge and later graduated from St. Louis University.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Maynard Johnston, formerly of 4512 Westminster place, have taken possession of their new apartment at 5808 Westminster. Mrs. Johnston's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hill Goddard, and her sister, Miss Nana Goddard, are with them. Later in the winter, Mrs. Johnston plans to give a debutante tea.

Mrs. Glenn Russell will depart in a week for her home in New York following a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan L. Russell, of 48 Kingsbury place. Miss Olive Moffitt, a maid of honor at the Veiled Prophet ball, will not make her debut as had been announced, but is planning to do so.

CITY WITH 'REAL HEART' SOUGHT

Yeomen to Establish Children's Home at Such a Place.

A city with a "real heart" has the best chance of being chosen as the site for the children's home and school to be established by the Brotherhood of American Yeomen. Mark McKee, a director of the brotherhood, declared yesterday at a joint meeting of Yeomen directors, city and Chamber of Commerce officials, St. Louis is one of four cities under consideration by the fraternal organization.

F. W. A. Vesper, president of the Chamber of Commerce, asserted that such a home could come up to McKee's requirements, declaring that few cities had the community spirit developed as had St. Louis. He promised the full co-operation of the chamber in assisting the Yeomen to accomplish their object. Health Commissioner Starkloff declared that St. Louis offered an ideal location for the school and home from the health standpoint. He pointed out that the infant mortality rate here was the lowest of any large city in the country, as was also the death rate from infectious diseases.

SHOW CATTLE AUCTION TODAY

Prizes Were Given to Winners in Holstein Exhibit Yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess M. Tompsett of 37 Aberdeen place, and Mrs. Betty Brown have returned from a three weeks' motor trip to Chattanooga, Tenn., where they were at the Signal Mountain Hotel.

The annual dinner of Grace Episcopal Church will be held tomorrow evening at the Kirkwood High School followed by an entertainment. The Rev. Dr. J. J. Wilkins will preside at the dinner, and among the guests will be Bishop Johnson and Dean Scarlett, who will make brief addresses.

DEATH ENDS NOTABLE POLICE CAREER OF PATRICK J. GAFFNEY

Retired Captain Distinguished Himself for Bravery in Street Car Strike of 1900.

The death yesterday of Patrick J. Gaffney, 69 years old, of 4262 Shaw avenue, from cerebral hemorrhage, following pneumonia, ended the career of one of the most outstanding figures in the Police Department. Since Dec. 1, 1921, he had held the rank of Police Captain (retired). Capt. Gaffney joined the force 46 years ago and for many years served as patrolman in the old "Bloody Third," now the Carr Street District, where he had numerous fist encounters with notorious police characters. Later he was a detective, and on Aug. 21, 1899, when the department was reorganized into a metropolitan force, he was promoted to a captaincy.

He commanded the old Mounted District, when its headquarters was where the Laclede Avenue Station is now. He distinguished himself for bravery in the street car strike of 1900 by helping to suppress many riots. Since his retirement from active work as Captain he had been assigned to the Probation Bureau in the Municipal Courts Building.

His widow, Mrs. Nellie Faulkner Gaffney, a son, Frank, and a daughter, Sister Helen Marie of the Order of Loretto, survive. The funeral arrangements have not been completed.

BUENOS AIRES OPERA IN TROUBLE

Correspondence of the Associated Press. BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 5.—This city possesses one of the finest opera houses in the world, the Colon. In recent years the attendance has decreased steadily until the management is confronted with serious financial difficulties.

Various attempts have been advanced to account for this condition—the local business depression and a change in the public taste since the war. But the most popular answer is that the United States is making opera too expensive for the rest of the world.

America attracts the best artists with high salaries, and even in the summer time famous singers make much money from concert tours working for phonograph companies. Hence they have no inclination to come to South America.

ASSERTS NO GENUINE REMBRANDT IS IN U. S.

John C. Van Dyke Says Dutch Master Painted 35 of 800 Pictures Attributed to Him.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Not one of the 15 or more paintings attributed to Rembrandt in the Metropolitan Museum of Art is genuine and of 800 pictures generally believed to have come from the Dutch painter's brush not more than 35 are definitely his work, it is stated by John C. Van Dyke, professor of the history of art and archeology at Rutgers College. He has made an investigation of the paintings of the Rembrandt school.

The statement is in Prof. Van Dyke's book, "Rembrandt and His School," which is published today by Charles Scribner's Sons. He reveals that he has been sceptical of the Rembrandt tradition ever since he began his history of art 40 years ago. Van Dyke says that not one of the paintings known to be by Rembrandt is in an American gallery.

Attributes One to Maes. "The Rembrandt tradition, which is an accumulation of mistakes and misapprehensions," Prof. Van Dyke says in the book, "has been universally accepted because no one seems to have had the temerity of doubt to attack it."

"The Metropolitan Museum is perhaps more unfortunate than the European galleries. With the best wishes in the world for the museum, I could not find a single one of the 15 or more 'Rembrandts' in the collection that had been done by the master's hand. For instance, there is the 'Old Woman Cutting Her Nails,' that everyone gazes at with admiration and thinks a wonderful Rembrandt."

"Well, it is an early and rather violent Nicolas Maes. This woman was a favorite model of Nicolas Maes. He painted her more than a dozen times, and the pictures are now in the European galleries, under the name of Maes. The drawing, poor construction, rambling composition, violent contrasts of light and shade, dark coloring, harsh and ineffectual handling, all speak of Maes."

Other Supposed Rembrandts. "Mind you, I am not quarrelling with any of these pictures as pictures. Most of them are fine works of art. My contention is that they are not Rembrandts. After all it is said and done, the pictures themselves have not changed in the slightest degree. They are just as fine today as they ever were. I simply have thrown a new light upon them and given them new names."

In the Louvre, Paris, there are only four true Rembrandts out of the 25 paintings there ascribed to him. Prof. Van Dyke declares. In the Hermitage gallery, Petrograd, two instead of 43; in the National Gallery, London, four instead of 21; in the Kaiser Friedrich Museum, Berlin, three instead of 25; and, Prof. Van Dyke adds, there is doubt about these three.

The "Portrait of a Girl" in the Chicago Art Institute, attributed to Rembrandt, is the work of an unidentified pupil. Prof. Van Dyke ascribes the two "Rembrandts" in the Widener collection in Philadelphia, he believes, were the work of Vermeer of Delft. "The Young Samson" in the Evans collection of Boston, Prof. Van Dyke ascribes to Ferdinand Bol. The "Portrait of Saskia" in the Biers collection in Pittsburgh, was painted by Aert de Gelder. Prof. Van Dyke declares.

Holy Rosary Parish Celebration.

Only priests who once were boys in the Holy Rosary parish will officiate Sunday morning at 11 o'clock at the annual celebration of the feast of the Holy Rosary in that church, Newstead and Margaretta avenues. These will be the Rev. William Mulally, celebrant; the Rev. John Fisch, deacon; the Rev. J. W. McAtee, subdeacon; and the Rev. L. J. Sullivan, to preach the sermon. The Rev. D. J. Lavery is pastor. Sunday's high mass will end a 40-hour devotion in honor of the feast. The new church, to cost $200,000, is to be dedicated in December.

ALLISTER MCCORMICK WEDS MISS JOAN STEVENS IN PARIS

Fewer Than Dozen Witnesses at Ceremony—Mary Landon Baker Reported Engaged.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Oct. 5.—The civil marriage of Allister McCormick of Chicago and Miss Joan Tyndale Stevens of London took place at 11 o'clock this morning in the city hall of the Sixteenth Ward, Paris.

The ceremony was simple, being attended by fewer than a dozen persons. The witness for the bride was Charles M. Askey, her stepfather, while Leander Hamilton McCormick was witness for the bridegroom. The bride was given away by her mother. Mr. McCormick wore a plain business suit. Miss Stevens was dressed entirely in velvet, wearing a medium-sized black velvet picture hat, a skirt of the same color and material, a waist of sky-blue velvet and black velvet shoes.

"I am very happy," said Deputy Mayor Chamonnet, "to unite in wedding a member of one of the best English families to the representative of the great McCormick family of America, which proved by sending 25 of its members into the firing line, its great love of our country and of justice."

Addressing the bridegroom, the Deputy Mayor continued: "I want to congratulate you personally for your gallant behavior during the war."

Miss Baker Reported Engaged to Jugo-Slav Consul-General.

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Coincident with the marriage of Allister McCormick of Chicago and Miss Joan Tyndale Stevens of London in Paris, it was reported here today—and denied—that Miss Mary Landon Baker, one-time fiancée of McCormick, was engaged to Bjodjar Pouritch, Consul-General here of Jugo-Slavia. Miss Baker's failure to appear at the church in 1921 on the day she was to marry McCormick, when the young man and the wedding guests all had assembled, was a society sensation. She was reported ill and numerous times afterward was quoted as having said she would or would not marry Allister. Both later went to Europe, where it was at first reported they would marry. Miss Baker could not be reached to comment today on the report of her engagement to Consul-General Pouritch, but he explained that there was no engagement.

CALIFORNIAN AWARDED THE EDISON ELECTRICAL MEDAL

Presentation to Prof. R. A. Millikan Made by Telephone From New York.

By the Associated Press.

DELMONTE, Cal., Oct. 5.—The Edison medal, an award for meritorious achievement in electrical research, was presented last night to Prof. Andrews Millikan of the California Institute of Technology, at the Pacific Coast Institute of Electrical Engineers. Dr. F. B. Jewett, president of the institute when the award was bestowed, made the presentation speech by telephone from New York. He characterized Millikan's achievements as "revolutionary and monumental."

"In the past decades Millikan has done more to influence young men toward clear thinking in scientific research than any other man in America," Dr. Jewett said. Prof. Millikan's "oil drop" discoveries, which established that all electrons were alike, he declared, were of "inestimable value" in eliminating surmise that hitherto had hampered experiments in the field.

SEAMAN U. R. RECEIVERSHIP SUIT IS DISMISSED

Effect Is to Strike From Records All Charges of Mismanagement Against Officers of the Company.

A motion for dismissal of the petition for a receivership for the United Railways Co., filed by John W. Seaman of New York, which has been pending for two years, was sustained today by Federal Judge Faris.

The effect of this action is to strike from the receivership proceedings all charges of mismanagement on the part of officers and directors of the United Railways Co. and diversion of funds by them.

Rolla Wells, now in charge of the properties of the United Railways, was appointed receiver under an order of the court. The order was entered after the Seaman petition had been filed. The order merely charges insolvency of the company, making no charges against the officers or directors as to conduct of the business.

Two Suits Consolidated
After the Adler bill was filed the United Railways Co., through its attorney, Henry S. Priest, filed an answer admitting the insolvency of the company, as charged in the Adler bill. Federal Judge Dyer, then presiding, ordered the two proceedings consolidated and appointed Rolla Wells as receiver. The court named former Supreme Judge Henry Lamm as special commissioner to take testimony.

Much testimony was presented before the special master in support of charges of mismanagement and diversion of funds made in the Seaman petition. The special master has made no report on his findings, and it was the opinion of the Federal Building today that in view of the dismissal of the Seaman suit, there probably will be no such report.

The receivership case originally was docketed and known in court as the case of Seaman vs. McCulloch et al. Richard McCulloch is president of the company. Counsel for Adler and for the United Railways later went into the Court of Appeals, asking that the style of the case be changed to read Adler vs. the United Railways Co. That change was ordered by the Court of Appeals.

Observations of Judge Faris.
In announcing his decision, Judge Faris called attention to the fact that the Adler case had been made the chief proceeding, and that a receiver had been appointed under the Adler petition who was in charge of the property.

The court said that if the Seaman suit was prosecuted the receiver would have to be made a party to the suit, either as plaintiff or defendant. The matter of making the receiver a party to the case was discretionary with the court, Judge Faris held, adding that since this had not been done, the Seaman petition would necessarily fail.

Seaman, who has died since the filing of his original petition, resided in New York and was a stockholder of the company. Adler, a St. Louisan, is a bondholder.

Dizzy Spells and High Blood Pressure

Dizzy Spells, Headache, Sleeplessness, Stomach in the Head and Nervousness indicate Dangerous Condition.
Norma is the name of a purely vegetable medicine that is in great demand because it does reduce high blood pressure.
Discovered by a leading Buffalo physician and successfully used for years, it has only recently been offered to the public through the better class of druggists.
Thousands have high blood pressure and don't know it, but the symptoms are plain, and any man or woman who has dizzy spells, shortness of breath, hot flashes and does not sleep well probably has it. High blood pressure is also indicated by nervousness, lack of appetite, a restless and sometimes moody being. Such people Norma will help and one bottle will prove it. Many women in the changing time of life have found it the only remedy that reduces to normal the high pressure and is really helpful.

AUTO OWNER SHOTS MAN HE FOUND IN CAR

East St. Louisan Critically Wounded by Railroad Watchman—Toils Found on Him.

Roy Porter, 29 years old, a boiler-maker, residing at 728 Summit avenue, East St. Louis, was shot and critically wounded by Herman Gerking, a Louisville & Nashville Railroad watchman, at 1:30 a. m. today on the railroad's right of way near Third street and Illinois avenue.

Gerking told policemen he discovered Porter in Gerking's Ford sedan, parked at that point, apparently removing parts of the car. Drawing his revolver, he ordered Porter out of the machine, he said, whereupon, Porter, cursing, advanced threateningly, with one hand thrust in his bosom.

Calling out that he would shoot unless Porter halted, Gerking fired three times, when, he says, Porter failed to comply. One of the shots took effect, passing through the left side of the abdomen. Policemen found tools from Gerking's car inside of Porter's shirt. The windows of the locked doors of the machine had been knocked or kicked in, and the battery coils already removed when Gerking came upon the scene, he declared.

Another man, believed to have been Porter's companion, was arrested, and Porter was taken to St. Mary's hospital. Gerking was released on his promise to appear if wanted.

RENEW FIRING ON CONVICTS HOLDING 'FORT' AT PRISON

Guards and State Troopers Resume Attack at Kentucky Penitentiary—Pickets Report Two Dead or Wounded.

NO SIGN OF THIRD PRISONER FOUND

Warden Had Ordered Shooting Halted Pending Arrival of Board, but Before Noon Roar of Guns Is Heard.

By the Associated Press.
EDDYVILLE, Ky., Oct. 5.—Rattle of musketry and the roar of machine guns was audible shortly before noon here today, echoing from the State penitentiary, which is situated a mile from the city limits. Since Wednesday three convicts have held at bay prison guards and State troopers.

It was decided to resume firing when pickets reported they could discern two forms on the floor of the dining hall, evidently of wounded or dead men. No sign of a third was detected.

Early today Warden Chilton said further efforts to dislodge the men would be delayed until 5:30 p. m., awaiting the arrival of three members of the State Board of Charities and Correction.

He said the convicts evidently had used four 90-gallon iron steam boilers in the front of the building and a steel-sheeted bread mixer in the rear as hiding places.

For more than two days and two nights, the convicts, Monte Walters, Lawrence Griffith and Harry Ferling, had held the improvised fortress, despite combined efforts of prison guards, a troop of National Guard machine gunners and civilian riflemen to dislodge them. Desperation carried the trio through attacks from high-powered rifles and two machine guns that drove a hail of bullets through the mess hall, tearing large holes in the north and west sides at points where the fire was concentrated; attacks by tear gas bombs and by rifle grenades.

Just before midnight Gov. Morrow ordered additional guardmen to the scene.

Death from wounds yesterday brought to three the number of prison guards slain by the desperadoes in their dash for freedom, early Wednesday.

HOMICIDE VERDICT RETURNED

Killing of Oscar Stutz, 38, Laid to Persons Unknown.

A Coroner's verdict of homicide, at the hands of persons unknown to the jury, was returned today in the case of Oscar Stutz, 38 years old, 2224 Lafayette avenue, a railroad fireman, who died at the City Hospital Monday of bullet wounds with which he was suffering when found lying in a gutter in front of 619 South Broadway early Sunday.

Testimony was that Stutz was one of a party at the home of George Hesselmann, 619 South Broadway, which included the latter's wife and Albert Wilson and Harry L. Walker, former East St. Louis detective. Walker now is a private watchman and Wilson conducts a roadhouse near Belleville. Hesselmann and his wife testified that Stutz and Wilson had a fight in the house for possession of a revolver. Three shots were heard shortly after Stutz left by a rear door and Walker and Wilson left by the front door. Pedestrians testified that they heard shots and saw an automobile leave an alley at the rear of the Hesselmann residence.

POSTMISTRESS UNDER ARREST

By the Associated Press.
DANVILLE, Ill., Oct. 5.—Grace L. Morgan, 25 years old, is under arrest here, charged with the embezzlement of $1300 of postoffice funds from the money order department. According to the authorities, she admitted the embezzlement, declaring that in 1921-1922 she altered the books and bought clothes with the money she took. She came here from St. Joseph, Mo.

Negro Stands Guard in Robbery

When neighbors near the grocery store of Louis Fisher, 2201 Franklin avenue, sought to investigate a crash of glass, due to a window being broken in the store, at 9 o'clock last night, they were confronted by a negro standing in front of the store and saw a white man inside the place gathering up the stock. The negro drew a revolver and held the neighbors away until the white man could come out of the window with a bundle, after which both ran away, the negro stopping every few feet to point the revolver at several men who attempted to follow them.

Accused of Stealing 'Coon Dog.
G. Bierhaus, 21 years old, of Chesterfield, St. Louis County, is held in the St. Charles jail, charged with stealing a 'coon dog belonging to John Roates of Seib Station, near St. Charles. Bierhaus is alleged to have driven past Roates' home in his automobile yesterday and stopped for a drink. Shortly after he left, Roates says, the dog was missed. The dog has not been found.

Jail for Dry Law Violators Urged.
A resolution asking judges to impose more jail sentences, instead of fines, upon violators of the Volstead act, has been passed by the Presbytery of St. Louis, which deplores the very evident lack of law enforcement as applying to the act. The resolution also calls upon ministers of the Presbytery to preach in a forceful way upon temperance, with special reference to enforcement of the act, and advises Presbyterians in St. Louis to teach temperance and law enforcement in the home.

TSAO KUN, MILITARY CHIEF, IS CHOSEN CHINA'S PRESIDENT
Leader of Northern Forces in War Against Canton Regime Elected to Succeed Li Yuan Hung.
By the Associated Press
PEKING, Oct. 5.—Marshal Tsoo Kun, chief of the Northern Militarists, has been elected President of China.
In China the President is elected by Parliament.
Tsoo Kun becomes President in succession to Li Yuan Hung, who quit his office and fled to Tientsin last spring, because of the menacing situation in Peking. At the time of Li's abdication, the Militarists, whom he had opposed, had made a show of force by engineering a strike of the metropolitan police force and threatening further disorder unless the President left.
Tsoo Kun is 60 years old. Thirty-five years ago he was a common soldier. An officer arranged for him to be sent to a military school. Tsoo Kun became successively regimental, brigade and division commander.
In 1911 he aided in suppressing the first revolution. In Chihli province. In 1918 he offered unsuccessful opposition to Gen. Tsoo Ao, the restorer of the republic, who was fighting the imperialist movement of Yuan Shih-Kai.
Tsoo Kun then was made military Governor of Chihli. In 1917 he was commander of the troops of several provinces in the war against the south.

FORMER CITY PARK OFFICIAL CONVICTED IN GRAFT CASE
John A. Backman Found Guilty of Defrauding the City of Des Moines.
DES MOINES, Ia., Oct. 5.—John A. Backman, former assistant superintendent of city parks, was found guilty of defrauding the city of Des Moines by a jury in District Court yesterday.
Backman was convicted of obtaining money by false pretenses, under an indictment which charged being filled the negro stood at a distance and lighted a cigarette, carelessly flipping the match. It fell near the gasoline line and caused the tank of the truck to explode. The damage to the oil filling station was estimated by the manager, James Deegan of 6455 McCune avenue, at $6500; to the truck, $1500, and to the second automobile, $150.

that he forged names to irregular city payroll warrants. The conviction carried a maximum penalty of seven years in prison. Backman will appeal.
Backman was arrested several months ago at San Antonio. He is the second to be convicted in the city graft scandal exposed by State Checkers. The other was Mary Fraze, park department secretary. Miss Fraze is serving a sentence at the woman's reformatory at Rockwell City.

TWO POSTOFFICE CLERKS ACCUSED OF RIFLING MAILS

Arrests Made by Inspectors Who Concealed Themselves in Main Building.

Postoffice inspectors last night arrested two clerks at the main Post-office, Eighteenth street and Clark avenue, on a charge of rifling the mails, and warrants were issued against them today. The men held are Henry H. Bohning, special delivery clerk, and Joseph A. Reed, 31, of 3553 Washington boulevard, a clerk at the conveyor platform.

Bohning was arrested at 10:30 p. m. Inspectors, who had been concealed, asserted they saw Bohning open several letters and stated he had in an inner coat pocket six special delivery letters removed from the mails. Bohning admitted taking the letters, inspectors said.

Reed was arrested about midnight after inspectors saw him open several letters, they said, and put others in his pockets. The inspectors said Reed made a statement that he began opening mail a week ago, after finding an unsealed letter containing $9.

BAN ON AUTOS IN BERMUDA

Only Motor Vehicle on the Island Destroyed.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Announcement of the destruction of the only automobile in Bermuda, a horse-drawn vehicle at that, was brought here today by Dr. M. F. Mabardi, surgeon on the liner Fort Victoria. The car, owned by a hotel proprietor, came under a ban when the island passed a law barring motor vehicles. The engine then was removed and the car was converted into a carriage.

On his last trip Dr. Mabardi and a party of friends were riding in the conveyance when it toppled over on a hill leading down to Hamilton Pier. The horses broke the traces and escaped, but Dr. Mabardi suffered a badly sprained wrist.

Man Found Slashed With Knife.

Herman Niehaus, 33 years old, of 2821 Nebraska avenue, a press-feeder, was taken to the city hospital last night suffering from two knife wounds across the abdomen and one on the left wrist after he had been found in a room at his home by his wife, Esther. His condition is critical, doctors said. The wife told policemen her husband had overworked. They had gone for a walk, she said, and returning, he retired to his room and locked the door. When she did not hear from him she sought to get in to the room and finding the door locked called neighbors. Niehaus was in bed with a penknife near his hand.

Mistrial in Burglary Case.

Circuit Judge Grimm declared a mistrial yesterday in the case of Frank Eppelsheimer, 28 years old, of 1213 Ferry street, charged with burglary in connection with the entering of a filling station at McKissack and De Soto avenues on Jan. 1. The jury reported itself hopelessly deadlocked.

HODGES PREDICTS
U. S. LABOR WILL ENTER POLITICS

Secretary of British Miners' Federation Says at A. F. L. Convention America Will Follow English Lead.

ACTION ENDING STRIKE OF PRESSMEN INDORSED

Convention Also Approves Steps Taken to Unionize Steel, Packing and Southern Textile Industries.

By the Associated Press. PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 5.—Frank Hodges, secretary of the Coal Miners' Federation of Great Britain, in an address before the convention of the American Federation of Labor, predicted that American labor would enter politics as labor has done in England.

Hodges declared that the American labor movement, by keeping wages at the maximum, had made living conditions for workmen higher than in any country in the world.

Steps to unionize the steel industry, the packing industry, the Southern textile industry and office workers in New York City were approved by the convention yesterday.

Berry's Action Indorsed. The stand of the International Printing and Pressmen's Union on the recent outlay strike of web pressmen of New York City was indorsed by the convention. When George L. Berry, president of the international, made an address.

Berry said he had no alternative but to stand behind the newspaper publishers. The strike, he said, was ordered by a vote of hands at a meeting of about 300 out of 2000 members and that of the 300 present 175 were juniors, many of whom had no regard for union laws.

Berry declared the New York situation had resulted in highly satisfactory agreement on wages and hours.

"I am sure that the New York newspaper publishers have a higher regard for trade unionism than they have ever before," he said.

He asserted that the press rooms of the New York newspapers are now 100 per cent union and loyal to union principles.

Matthew Wolf of the photo-engravers was re-elected president of the International Labor News Service and R. P. Woodmansee, editor of the Illinois Tradesman of Illinois, elected secretary-treasurer. Vice presidents include P. J. Morris, Trades Union News, St. Louis.

LAW TO CONTROL DRUG TRAFFIC PASSED IN HAITI

Purpose Is to Make Sure German Firms Do Not Use Island as Distribution Base. (Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti, Sept. 18.—The Haitian Council of State has passed a law to regulate and control the exportation, importation, possession, use or sale of narcotics, poisons and habit-forming drugs in Haiti.

The specific purpose of this legislation is to prevent the possible use of Haiti by German firms as a base for the distribution of narcotics. Previously there was no law of any description bearing on the narcotic problem and Germany, not being a signatory to the opium convention, was steadily increasing its imports of such substances. The passage of the act has made Haiti eligible as a signatory to this convention.

The new law is based on that which controls the use of narcotics in the United States, with certain modifications to fit local conditions.

THRASHED EX-KAISER AS BOY

Englishman, Who Died Recently, Gave Whipping at Seaside Resort.

Correspondence of the Associated Press. LONDON, Sept. 18.—The death occurred here recently of Alfred Russell Price, and passed almost unheeded, whereas it was worthy of special notice, for he succeeded in accomplishing what thousands of Americans have itched to do but could not, he gave the boy who later became German Emperor, a good, sound thrashing.

It happened years ago when Wilhelm was the Crown Prince and was visiting Ilfracombe, an English seaside resort, with his tutor, Wilhelm. In a playfully destructive mood, began to throw stones at some bathing machines belonging to Price's father. He was told to stop, but took exception to this infringement on his regal rights. Young Price took off his coat and began to belabor the royal youth so successfully that he had administered a black eye and several cuts and bruises before the tutor succeeded in calling off hostilities.

Sues Baker for Divorce and Alimony. Mrs. Bertha Hradil yesterday filed suit to divorce Henry Hradil, a baker, 2454 Easton avenue, and for alimony. She states he has an income of $700 a month from his business and other investments. Recently he tried to force her to sign deeds to realty worth $22,500 so he could raise money to go on a trip to Europe, she avers. They were married in 1907 and have one child, for whose custody the mother asks.

The very day you start to use Calumet Baking Powder your baking expenses reduce. The price of Calumet is not the only reason for its economy—it's the great leavening strength it possesses—the unfailing results that are always experienced when it is used, that's what counts—that's what makes it the economy leavener.

Never use heaping spoonfuls when you bake with Calumet—it isn't necessary because one spoonful of Calumet does the work of two of many other brands.

Why should you run the risk of spoiling your bakings by using a leavener that has not proven its merits—that may mean success today and failure tomorrow? Don't experiment—use Calumet. It makes more bakings—goes farther and lasts longer. Its superior quality has stood out above all other baking powders for many years.

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 ounces. Some baking powders come in 12 oz. cans instead of 16 oz. cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

BODY OF MISSING MAN FOUND

The body of J. Philip Christian, 69 years old, a machinist, of 3830 Maifitt avenue, was taken from the Mississippi River at Filmore street shortly before noon today by fishermen who had observed it from the shore. Christian had been missing from his home since Monday night. Letters disclosing an intention to end his life were found beside his hat on Eads Bridge Tuesday.

His son, Philo G. Christian, of 3850 Kennerly avenue, who identified the writing of the letters as that of his father, said his father had been sick and unable to work for more than a week.

MISSOURI PACIFIC TO RETAIN THROUGH SERVICE TO WEST

Freight Route to Coast Was Jeopardized for a Time by Proposed Sale of the D. & R. G. Western.

STATE INTERVENED
BEFORE THE I. C. C.

Colorado Has No Objections to Missouri Pacific Buying Half of D. & R. G.
Stock.

By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 4.—The through freight route of the Missouri Pacific system from St. Louis to the Pacific Coast, jeopardized for a time by the proposed sale of the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railway to the Santa Fe Railroad will not be broken, according to a statement made here by Attorney-General Barrett.

The Attorney-General said that the State had succeeded in the objects which caused its intervention in the matter before the Interstate Commerce Commission. A telegram from Edward J. White, general counsel for the Missouri Pacific Railroad, advised that the State of Colorado has no objections to the purchase by the Missouri Pacific of one-half of the Denver & Rio Grande Western stock. This means that the through line of the Missouri Pacific from St. Louis to California will not be interrupted, Barrett said.

The through line of the Missouri Pacific to the Western coast is made possible by routing traffic over the Denver & Rio Grande Western and the Western Pacific.

Missouri's Attorney-General and the Public Service Commission recently were given permission to intervene in the matter before the Interstate Commerce Commission, and a hearing had been set to be held at St. Louis. Barrett announced that the intervening petition would be withdrawn and that the matter was satisfactorily closed.

D. & R. G. Western to Be Owned by Missouri Pacific and Western Pacific.

By the Associated Press.
DENVER, Colo., Oct. 5.—Announcement by Attorney-General Fleming that Colorado did not object to acquisition to a half interest in the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad Co. by the Missouri Pacific Railroad Co., and withdrawal by the State of Kansas as an intervenor in the Interstate Commerce Commission here on the proposed reorganization of the Denver & Rio Grande Western were made at the hearing on that subject conducted here by Charles D. Mahaffie, director of the Bureau of Finance of the Commission.

News of the Attorney-General's attitude toward the Missouri Pacific's interest was telegraphed to the Kansas State Utilities Commission. J. M. Reed, chairman of the Kansas Utilities Commission, wired a withdrawal of the intervention entered yesterday by Kansas. This action, it was announced, made unnecessary the hearing scheduled for Oct. 10 in Kansas City, Mo. The withdrawal was made through Edward J. White, vice president and general counsel of the Missouri Pacific Railroad.

A considerable part of the proceedings was taken up by the testimony and subsequent cross examination of W. H. Williams, of the chief executive committee of the Missouri Pacific and Wabash Railroads and vice president of the Delaware & Hudson. Williams outlined the advantages which he said would follow adoption of the proposed reorganization of the Denver & Rio Grande, both as to the Denver & Rio Grande Western and the Missouri Pacific Systems. He testified that the Missouri Pacific already receives more than 85 per cent of the interchange traffic of the Rio Grande more than twice the amount interchanged with any other system.

Under the proposed reorganization the Rio Grande is to be turned by the Missouri Pacific and the Western Pacific, which has a line from Salt Lake City to Oakland, Cal.

$30,000.00 SPENT BY SWEDEN TO GIVE WORK TO JOBLESS

Books Show 1500 Miles of New and Improved Roads and Many Other Projects.
STOCKHOLM, Sept. 16.—The balancing of accounts at the end of the worst period of unemployment which Sweden has ever weathered shows the following debit and credit: a total public outlay of $30,000,000 to provide work for the jobless, about 1500 miles of new and improved roads, many new bridges, new telephone lines, 46 new athletic fields, new aviation fields, new barracks, extensive forest improvements, and reforestation and opening up of large new tracts of arable land.

This information is the result of researches made by two leading Stockholm newspapers on the occasion of reporting the smallest amount of unemployment during two and a half years, the figures now being only 20,000 as against 182,000 in February, 1922. Virtually all of the large funds expended have been for constructive relief work, while steadily decreasing sums have been set aside for direct subvention. At present only about 150 persons are receiving unemployment doles.

TO DISCUSS POSTER ADVERTISING

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 5.—Many artists and art teachers are expected here next week to attend the thirty-third annual convention of the Poster Advertising Association, according to officers of the association. Approximately 1000 delegates will be present. The public has been invited to attend all sessions so it may learn what poster concerns are trying to accomplish in their crusade for clean outdoor advertising. The organization, according to the officers, does not advocate erection of billboards, considering them an "abuse" of outdoor advertising.

Referee Ertle and Champion McTigue Allege Intimidation And Gunplay in Stribling Bout

Official Declares Promoter Compelled Him to Indicate That Stribling Had Won, When His Real Decision Was a Draw — Titleholder Said Pistol Was Displayed Before Bout.

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, Ga., Oct. 5.—Although Mike McTigue of Ireland still retains his world's light heavyweight crown under the third decision rendered by Referee Harry Ertle after the Irishman's 10-round bout here yesterday, his opponent, Young Stribling, today is the rightful holder in the opinion of Columbus fight fans. Promoter J. Paul Jones of the local American Legion post so informed Chairman Muldoon of the New York State Boxing Commission in a telegram sent him last night demanding a thorough investigation by the commission of yesterday's tumultuous events.

Jones' telegram was sent after Referee Ertle, who at first declared the fight a draw and then when the crowd of 4400 displeased charged the ring, apparently changed his decision, giving victory to the 18-year-old Georgia schoolboy, had issued a written statement officially declaring the fight a draw.

The statement issued from the obscurity of a private residence here contained the assertion that the referee had been threatened with death if he did not give the decision to Stribling and charged that "Major Jones had forcibly held his arm and that of Stribling aloft."

McTigue and Joe Jacobs, his manager, declared they had been threatened with death if McTigue did not fight.

"Harry Ertle rendered several decisions in the McTigue-Stribling contest," said the telegram sent by Major Jones to the New York commission. "The entire vote of all newspaper men gave the bout to Stribling by a wide margin. At the conclusion of the bout Ertle pointed at both men but did not raise either hand. Newspaper men and officials asked him to make his decision. He stated that he would make his decision three hours after the bout."

"We demanded that he make his decision in the ring. We informed him that over 150 police and 200 soldiers were present for his protection. All we wanted was a square deal. After a great amount of argument he lifted Young Stribling's arm and declared him the winner. Three hours after the fight he issued a statement that his decision is a draw."

"Wednesday night on the eve of the battle McTigue suddenly claimed a broken thumb. Two doctors backed up his claim. The fight was therefore called off Wednesday night. McTigue stating his thumb was broken this week while training here."

"This morning the best surgeons

Promoter Declares McTigue and Jacobs Admitted They Wanted to Get Out of Go

The telegram to the New York commission was made public by Maj. Jones early today, after he had given out lengthy statement in which he said that McTigue and his manager made no secret of the fact that they wanted to get out of the fight and that on Wednesday Jacobs refused to go to the bank to get his guarantee.

He said he pleaded with the champion without avail and then realized that the lives of the battler and his manager were in danger, with fight fans pouring into the city and "sat up with them all night Wednesday night in case of emergency."

McTigue's Hand Not Swollen.

He then recounted how persons examined McTigue's hand, which, they said, was not swollen, asserting the result left nothing else for McTigue to do "but to agree to fight."

Maj. Jones said that Referee Ertle came to him and asked that the fight be a no-decision affair and was referred to the managers of the fight, but "Ertle refused to listen to the offer and also rejected a proposal that an exhibition contest be declared a draw he held."

He said that Ertle "kept saying after the bout, making a sign indicating the match was a draw and how, not believing the signal was understood by the referee, he asked the referee to return to the ring and make an announcement of his decision." He said Ertle said he did not care to do that and intended to make a statement to newspaper men at 7 o'clock.

McTigue, who left Columbus shortly after the fight, declared in a statement before he left that he had been "virtually forced to go into the ring at the point of a gun. I have

McTigue Lost Popular Verdict to Loughran Since Winning Title

SINCE winning the title in Dublin from Battling Siki, Mike McTigue has lost one popular verdict—that in his first encounter with Tommy Loughran at Philadelphia. At their second bout McTigue was credited with having the better of the go.

McTigue, in a record of about 100 fights, has met the best mid-weights in the world and either beaten them or held his own. Twice he defeated the present champion, Harry Greb. McTigue is 31 years old. He is a safety-first fighter and it is said makes an uninteresting bout, as a rule, although he has knocked out a long list of foes. He has gained George Carpentier's consent to meet him for the title in a bout in the U. S. some months hence.

In the State asserted that McTigue's injury was an old one and that the injury occurred prior to his signing of the contract for the bout held today. After much wrangling McTigue agreed to enter the ring to defend the championship. He lost two rounds, one two and two were draws. This was the average opinion.

"Prior to entering the ring Jacobs insisted that in the event Stribling won the fight another opportunity be given McTigue."

"He was unable to run out on us and had to fight. We desire you to make a thorough investigation as $8000 fans here are adhering to Ertle's decision giving Stribling the world's championship. Answer."

"MAJ. J. PAUL JONES,
"American Legion."

Referee Intimidated, He Says.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 5.—Guarded by four husky military policemen from Camp Benning, Mike McTigue, world's light heavyweight champion, his manager, Joe Jacobs, and Harry Ertle of Jersey City, arrived here at 3 o'clock this morning from Columbus. They came through in two automobiles.

Ertle declared on his arrival that at no time did he change his decision that the fight between McTigue and Stribling was a draw.

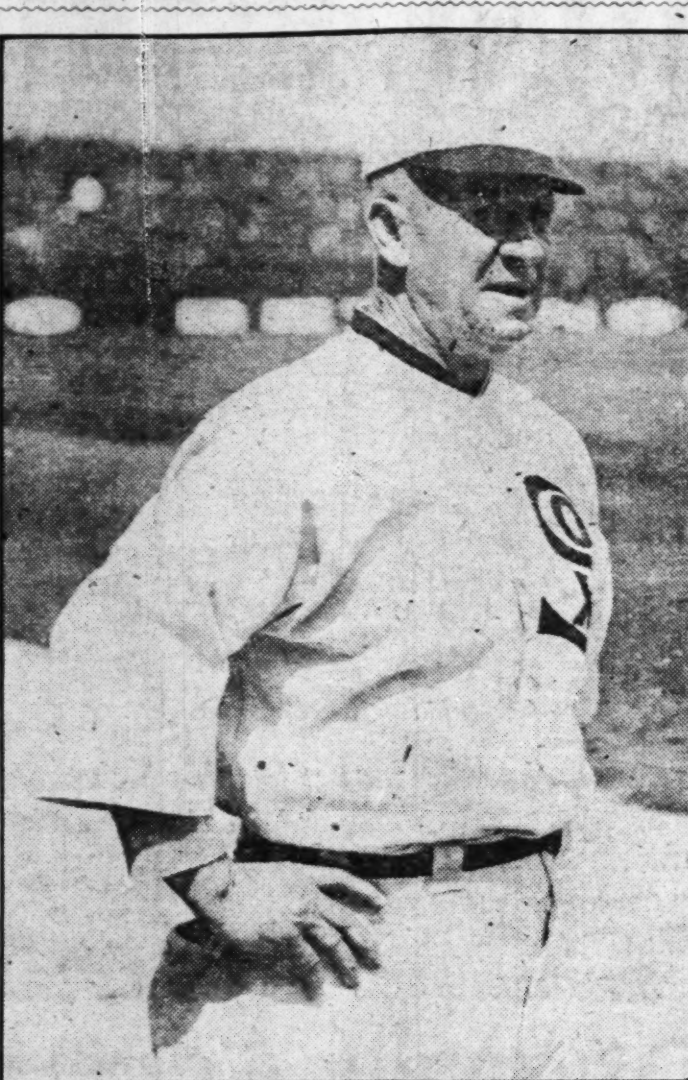

It was the worst situation I ever was in," he said. "They kept hitting me for half an hour trying to make me change my decision. I said it was a draw when the fight ended and I said it was a draw when they threatened me and I still say it was a draw."

He said he was "giving Stribling all that was coming to him when he called the fight a draw."

Ertle was bitter against Maj. J. Paul Jones, head of the American Legion Committee that promoted the fight. "The minute I hit town he tried to bully me," said the referee. "He said 'now you are in town you can't get out.' I said: 'What's the idea? Are you trying to bully or browbeat some people?' He said: 'Well, we've got all the railroad stations covered.' What he meant by that I don't know."

After the fight Jones wanted me to give the decision to Stribling. I wouldn't do it. He said, 'Well, you'll never get out of here and I said to him, 'If you're so interested in Stribling why don't you give it to him? I give it a draw.' He declared that Maj. Jones was the man who held up Stribling's arm and indicated a change in the decision."

Hired, Not Fired, as Rumor Had It

WILLIAM "KID" GLEASON.

For several weeks the unconfirmed report was going the rounds of the major league circuit that Kid Gleason would lose his job and perhaps go to the Detroit Tigers. It is now officially announced that both the "Kid" and Ty Cobb can have their jobs for life, if they want them. The announcements come from club headquarters.

Miss Stirling and Miss Cummings to Play Golf Final

Atlanta Girl Defeats Mrs. Goss, While Chicagoan Eliminates Mrs. Vanderbeck.

By the Associated Press.

RYE, N. Y., Oct. 5.—Miss Alexa Stirling of New York will play Miss Edith Cummings of Chicago in the final match of the national women's golf championship tournament at the Westchester-Biltmore Country Club tomorrow.

Miss Stirling, former champion, qualified for the title match by defeating Mrs. E. H. Goss of Baltimore, N. Y., in the semifinal round today. Two up. Miss Cummings won her semifinal match after a 20-hole match with Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck of Philadelphia.

18.2 TITLE PLAYERS TO HAVE WARM-UP TABLES

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Because billiard players have complained of having to enter their matches without the opportunity of warming up, practice tables are to be furnished the contestants in the third annual international 18.2 ball-line billiard championship at the Hotel Pennsylvania, Oct. 23 to Nov. 5, according to the announcement of T. A. Dwyer, who is in charge of the arrangements.

Two practice tables will be erected in places, free from prying eyes, where the players may prepare themselves for competing.

LEONARD TO DEFEND TITLE AT TIA JUANA

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Benny Leonard, lightweight champion, has been signed to defend his title at Tia Juana Dec. 24 against an opponent to be selected by the promoter of the match, Jim Crofworth.

Hagen Scores 62 On Par 74 Links Of Wichita Club

Mid-Continent Tourney Opens Today With All-Star Entry—Mehlhorn, Defending Title, Makes a 69.

By the Associated Press.

WICHITA, Kan., Oct. 5.—Mehlhorn of St. Louis led the field in the opening round of the second annual mid-continent golf tournament here today when he turned in a 66 for the par 74 Wichita Country Club course. Mehlhorn scored two eagles in succession and followed with six birdies in making his low score.

By the Associated Press.

WICHITA, Kan., Oct. 5.—Approximately 50 golfers, including several of the world's leading players, were ready to tee off here today in the first round of the second annual mid-continent open golf tournament over the Wichita Country Club course.

The tournament is a 72-hole medal play event. There will be four rounds, with 18 holes this morning and 18 this afternoon. The same program will be followed tomorrow. The ten low scores will receive cash prizes if professionals and cups if amateurs.

Hagen's Sensational Score.

The first twosome was scheduled to tee off at 9 a. m., followed at five-minute intervals by other players. William Mehlhorn, of St. Louis, defending champion, was paired with Joe Kirkwood, Australian champion, for the medal play. Mehlhorn won last year's tournament with an aggregate of 278 strokes. Mehlhorn made a 69 in practice Wednesday.

Walter Hagen, of New York, former British open and United States open champion, was paired with M. J. Brady of Detroit, Western open titleholder. In a practice round yesterday Hagen went over the par 74 course in 62, three strokes below the course record held by John Black, Wichita professional.

Gene Sarazen of Briar Cliff Manor, national professional champion, and former national open champion, was paired with Bob MacDonald of Chicago, Metropolitan open champion.

Jack Hutchison of Chicago, former British open champion, was in a two-some with Ed Murphy of St. Joseph, Mo. Murphy turned in a 69 for 36 holes of play in practice rounds.

Other celebrities in the tournament include Bobbie Cruickshank of New York, runner-up in the recent national open championship; Chick Evans, present Western open and former open champion; Eddie Loos and Laurie Ayton, Chicago professionals.

WHITE TO BOX MORAN IN NEW YORK TONIGHT

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Charley White, Chicago, and Pal Moran, New Orleans, each having won "a hometown" victory over the other and each ambitious to prove his right to meet Champion Benny Leonard, are to clash in Madison Square Garden tonight in the "Rubber" engagement of the series. Three years ago Moran whipped White in New Orleans and a short time later White won a newspaper decision over Moran in East Chicago. Both contestants are reported to have met the weight requirements of 137 pounds for tonight's contest.

DANFORTH AND COLE PITCH IN OPENING GAME AT DETROIT

From a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

DETROIT, Oct. 5.—Two lefthanders, Bert Cobb for Detroit and Danforth for the Browns, were opposing pitchers as the Tigers and Browns began their final series of the season today.

Harry Heilmann, leading batter of the major leagues, is still suffering from an injury received in Chicago and Bob Veach played right field. Cold weather kept the attendance down to about 4000.

A play-by-play account of the game follows:

DETROIT, Oct. 5.—For more than an hour yesterday Babe Ruth of the Yankees was but one home run away from slugging Cy Williams of the Phillies in the exciting race for the first inning of the Yankees' series game at the Yankee Stadium.

The Athletics by defeating the Yankees 7 to 6, robbed the New York team of any chances of running its winning total to 100.

The Athletics' homer was the feature in the lone National League contest, in which the Phillies trounced the Boston Braves, 10 to 2.

DETROIT—Jones fouled to Severid. Cobb tripled to left. Fothergill beat out a punt in front of the plate. Cobb scoring. Veach forced Fothergill, Danforth to Gerber. Rigney was called out on strikes. ONE RUN.

40 ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH
GERMAN MONARCHISTS
PLOT WAR OF REVENGE
Would Establish Reactionary Dictatorship If Revolt Is Successful.

Berlin, Oct. 5.—The mystery which the German Government made over the seizure of former fortresses at Kuesstrin and Spandau by armed nationalists only serves to emphasize the mortal danger to the republic that the seizures indicated.

This isolated attempt, which was frustrated by the Reichswehr after a day's fighting, was not in itself a serious threat to the Government. But the fact that it coincided with Hitler's preparations for military operations against Saxony and Berlin and with the revolt within Chancellor Stresemann's own party against his firm republican policy, shows a concentration of monarchist military forces which can only be interpreted as a far-reaching plot to overthrow constitutional government and establish reactionary dictatorship in preparation for an eventual war of revenge against France.

The nationalists who seized Kuesstrin were members of former monarchist regiments, who had been obliged to leave since the failure of the Kapp putsch, and who had been supported as day laborers on large estates of East Germany (which is thoroughly monarchist). The military units were thus kept together, while their arms were hidden about the estates.

They made their daring attack on Kuesstrin at the exact moment when the plans of the monarchists were at a standstill and a dramatic act was needed to start things going again. It is clear that the plotters did not have sufficient forces to seize Berlin and that they did not intend a monarchist revolution in Northern Germany. Their object probably was to provoke the Socialists and Communists to take vigorous action, either directly by seizing military control of the Government or indirectly by forcing the Government to call upon the proletarian battalions for aid.

The plan had been made, but many well-informed persons believe the attempt will be repeated on a larger scale before long.

(2) Lincoln Beachy and his airship, in a demonstration over Forest Park. This was hailed as a great step towards the solution of the problem of lighter-than-air navigation. The Beachy ship was driven by a tiny motor and he moved up or down by walking from one end of the ship to the other, tilting her nose accordingly. She was to the ZR-1 what Columbus' Santa Maria is to the great Leviathan. (3) The Strobel airship, which was also tried out in St. Louis, was navigated from a frame almost like that on the Beachy ship. This photograph shows the navigator, Jack Dallas, standing on the frame just before casting off for a flight. Note the size of his little gas tanks and his motor. Both these photographs were made Oct. 23, 1907 at what St. Louis promoters were pleased to call "The International Air Races."

Why We Should Cultivate Habit of Deep Breathing

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

WHENEVER I see a scrawny, pinched-faced, hollow-chested, thin-armed youth, I feel like walking up to him to tell him why he is so emaciated. He may eat quantities of food—indeed, he is apt to be the biggest eater in the family. He may exercise a lot. He may even try to do the things which he hears are good for health. But all his efforts fail.

You know all about a furnace, or, certainly, about a stove. You know the fire would never burn if you were to close all the drafts and not let air mix with the fuel. Without oxygen there could be no fire. We eat food. It is taken into the stomach, but that food can never render us a useful service without oxygen. Food is fuel, but without the oxygen taken in through the lungs, the food would never burn, would never oxidize, and, therefore, would do us no good.

Floating in the blood are millions of minute objects, called "corpuscles." There are, too, little bits of air cells in the lungs and each one is surrounded by a network of tiny blood vessels, called "capillaries." As the blood circulates, it reaches these narrow vessels which are so small that the corpuscles are crowded as they push through the contracted space.

The walls of the air cells are thinner than the thinnest of tissue paper. As the corpuscles crowd through, the oxygen leaks out, to be absorbed by the corpuscles. Likewise, the impure gases, picked up by the corpuscles in their journey around the body, are discharged through the walls of the air cells. In their turn the air cells get rid of these gases, by discharging them into the outside atmosphere. In the breathing action the poisonous gases are expelled, and fresh air, filled with oxygen, is drawn in to supply the blood.

The amount of oxygen you will get depends on the manner in which you breathe. If you take stinging breaths, drawing in just a little air, you will rob your body of the vast quantities of oxygen it needs.

Even though you are a good breather you never empty and fill your lungs with one action. The lungs will hold about 350 cubic inches of air and with an ordinary breath you will not take in over 30 inches.

The shallow-chested folks I have told you about inhale just a few inches of air and, consequently, the blood is never rich in health-carrying oxygen. How can you expect your food to mean anything to you if you do not supply the necessary material to prepare it for your use?

As the blood circulates through the body it passes through capillaries everywhere, giving up the oxygen. In the growth and functioning of the body the building materials break down, producing waste. Much of this takes the form of a gas—carbon dioxide. When the corpuscles give up oxygen they take on carbon dioxide. So you see, the processes of circulation and respiration are intended to bring about an exchange of gases—one to bring purity and refreshment, the other to carry away poisons.

For the very thing, a special deep breathing exercises are needed. Another time I will tell you about these.

A Continued Story

FROM NOW ON

It was a big house—like some vast, cavernous, deserted place. Footsteps, when there were footsteps, and voices, when there were voices, seemed to echo with strange loneliness through the great halls, and up and down the wide staircase. And in the dawn, as the light came gray, the pieces of furniture, swathed in their summer coverings of sheets, had seemed, like weird and ghostlike specters inhabiting the place.

But the dawn had come hours ago.

Dave Henderson raised his head from his cupped hands. Was that the nurse now, or the doctor—that footstep up above? He listened a moment, and then his chin dropped back into his hands.

Black hours they had been—black hours for his soul, and hours full of the torment and agony of fear for Teresa.

From somewhere, almost coincident with their arrival at the house, a nurse had come. From some restaurant, a man had brought breakfast for the doctor, for the nurse, for Millman—and for him. He had eaten something—what, he did not know. The doctor had gone, and come again—the doctor was upstairs there now. Perhaps, when the doctor came down again, the doctor would allow him to see Teresa. Half an hour ago they had told him that she would get well.

There was strange chaos in his mind. That agony of fear for her, that cold, icy thing that had held a clutch upon his heart, was gone; but in its place had come another agony—an agony of yearning—and now he was afraid—for himself.

Millman had tried to make him go to bed and sleep. Sleep? He could not have slept! He could not even have remained still for five minutes at a stretch! He had been half mad with his anxiety for Teresa. He had wanted to be somewhere where his restless movements would not reach Teresa in her room, and yet somewhere where he could intercept every coming and going of the doctor. And so for hours he had alternately paced up and down this lower hall here, and thrown himself upon this great, wide, sheet-covered divan where he sat now. And in those hours his mind, it seemed, had run the gamut of every emotion a human soul could know. It ached now—physically. His temples throbbed and hurt.

His eyes strayed around the hall, and held on a large sheet-draped piece of furniture over beyond the foot of the staircase. They had served other purposes, these coverings, than to make spectral illusions in the gray of dawn! Beneath that sheet lay the package of banknotes. It made a good hiding place. He had extracted the package from the valise, and had secreted it there during the confusion as they had entered the house. But it seemed to take form through that sheet now, as if it had done a score of times since he had put it there, and always it seemed as though a crimson stain that was on the wrapper would spread and spread until it covered the entire package.

That package—and the crimson stain! It seemed to make of itself a curiously appropriate foreground for a picture that spread away into a vista of limitless years: An orphan school, with its cracked walls, and the painted mottoes whose scrolls gaped where the cracks were; a swirl of horses reaching madly down the stretch, a roar of hoarse, delicious shouts, elated oaths around the bookmaker's paying stand, pinched faces on the outer fringes of this ring; a thirst intolerable, stark pain, the brutal jolting of a boxcar through the night, hours upon hours of a horror that ended only with the loss of consciousness; walls that reared themselves so high that they seemed to stand sentinel against the invasion of even a ray of sunlight, steel bars, and doors, and bolts that clanged, and clanged, until the sound ate like some cancerous thing into the soul itself; and then wolves, human wolves, ravenous wolves, between two packs of them, the police on the one hand, the underworld on the other, that snarled and tore at him, while he fought them for his life.

All that! That was the price he had paid for that package there—that, and that crimson stain.

He swept his hand across his eyes. His face grew set, and his jaws locked hard together. No, he wasn't sure yet that even that was all—that the package there was even yet finally and irrevocably his—to do with as he liked. There was last night—The Iron Tavern—the police again. Was there a connecting link trailing behind him? What had become of the Scorpion? What story had the man perhaps told? Were the police looking for an unknown man—who was Dave Henderson; and looking for an unknown woman—who was Teresa?

Well, before long now, surely, he would know—when Millman got back. Millman, who had intimated that he had an inside pull somewhere that would get the straight police version of the affair, had gone out immediately after breakfast for that purpose.

That was what counted, the only thing that counted—to know where the police stood. Millman ought to be back now. He had been gone for hours. It was taking him an unaccountably long time! Millman! He had called Millman a straight crook. He had tried to call Millman something else this morning—for what Millman had done for Teresa and himself last night. Only he wasn't any good at words. But Millman had seemed to understand, though Millman had not said much, either—just a smile in the gray eyes, and a long, steady clasp of both hands on his, Dave Henderson's, shoulders.

There was a footstep on the stairs now. He looked up. It was the doctor coming down. He jumped to his feet, and went eagerly to the foot of the stairs. "Better!" said the doctor cheerily.

"I—I want to see her," said Dave Henderson.

The doctor smiled, as he moved across the hall toward the front door.

"In a few minutes," he said. "I've told the nurse to let you know when she's ready."

The doctor went out. He heard the doctor begin to descend the outer steps, and then pause, and then another footstep ascending; and then he caught the sound of voices. And then, after a little while, the front door opened, and Millman came into the reception hall.

Dave Henderson's lips tightened, as he stepped toward the other. "What?" he found his voice strangely hoarse, and he cleared his throat—"what did you find out?" Millman motioned toward the divan.

"Everything, I guess, Dave," he answered, as he sat down. "And—?" Dave Henderson flung himself down beside the other.

Millman shook his head. "Better hear the whole story, Dave. You can size it up then for yourself."

Dave Henderson nodded. "Go on, then!" he said. "I told you," said Millman, "that I thought I could get inside information—the way the police looked at it. Well, I have. And I have got it from a source that is absolutely dependable. Understand, Dave?"

Dave Henderson nodded again. "The police start with that telephone message," said Millman. "They believe that it was authentic, and that it was Dago George who sent it. In fact, without it they wouldn't have known where to turn, while with it the whole affair

Yourself

By J. J. MUNDY.

ARE you trying so hard to please your boss that you are fearful about exercising your own judgment in whatever you have to do?

Are you so engrossed in figuring out just how he would like to have you do things that you exercise absolutely no initiative in your work?

Are you going along in an automatic, machine-like manner, following a hard and fast set of rules, not daring to take a chance of varying your routine, even though at times you can see for yourself that you could improve the system?

If you are a dumbbell you are doing yourself and your boss an injustice.

If the boss is the right sort he desires to have your suggestions and wants to have you think up new and better ways to accomplish things in shop or office.

No doubt if you could think of a better way than the one he has planned he would be glad to understand your ideas and would favor your carrying them out.

Be concise and clear in your explanations, and then do not get grouchy if he seems not to want to try them.

Of course, you cannot know what he has in mind. Anyway, try using your own head and make yourself more valuable.

appears to be simplicity itself." He smiled a little whimsically. "They used it as the key to unlock the door. It's no discredit to their astuteness. With nothing to refute it, it is not only the obvious, but the logical solution. Bookie builded a great deal better than he knew—for Dave Henderson—when he used that telephone for his own dirty ends. It wouldn't have been so easy for the police to account for the death of three men in The Iron—"

ESCALLOPED CHEESE

TAKE three slices of bread, break into small pieces, butter a baking dish; place a layer of bread crumbs, then a layer of grated cheese, salt and pepper to taste, having a layer of bread crumbs on top. One-eighth pound cheese is sufficient for the above amount. Mix one well-beaten egg with a cup and a half of milk; pour over bread and cheese. Bake in hot oven.

CRUMB PIE

LINE deep pie tin with plain pastry. Now place in the prepared pie plate one cup of molasses. Place in small bowl one cup of bread crumbs, one-quarter cup of flour, two-thirds cup of brown sugar, one teaspoon each of cinnamon and ginger, one-half teaspoon of allspice. Mix well, then rub into the prepared crumbs four tablespoons butter, spread over the molasses on the pie plate and bake 45 minutes in slow oven.

AT THE brilliant and vagrant court of Louis XVI, one lovely young girl, Jeanne, too ill to attempt any sort of relief from the family, almost universally indolent pleasure-seeking women who there. Her name was Jeanne, Henriette Genest, and her responsibility of providing for the family.

But he had high ambitions. Jeanne was not of the dis-there. Her name was Jeanne, Henriette Genest, and her responsibility of providing for the family.

Jeanne spoke English and French fluently. By the time she was 15 years old she exhibited taste for learning and culture, and declared herself its pannels of her accomplishments brought to the ears of the Queen Marie Antoinette.

Before her sixteenth birthday, Jeanne was appointed reader to three daughters of Louis XVI, which he founded for the hours in the magnificent palace of Versailles, while the clever Jeanne inspired them with an ambition for knowledge, and because of her own ability.

So attractive was this young man that she became a general favorite at court and was soon many admirers, among them the King, son of the Secretary of the Royal Cabinet.

The King was pleased with match—so much so that he gave her a liberal allowance as it does today.

WAYS TO USE MILK

By LORETTO C. LYNCH

A Recognized Authority on All Matters Pertaining to Household Management.

"THE doctor told me my family should drink more milk. Unfortunately, the children are not overfond of it and while I may enforce the discipline necessary to make them drink it, my husband is hopeless."

Well, if husband and kiddies will not cheerfully drink milk, hide it in the food and make them eat it. Have you ever seen a husband refuse a nice creamy oyster stew? Yet that is practically all milk. Know how to make it? For two servings of oyster stew, thicken one and one-half measuring cups of rich milk with two level tablespoons of flour stirred into a little cold water. In another cook pot put half a dozen or more oysters and cook them in their liquor just until their beads curl. Cooking longer than this makes them tough. The beard is the frilly little ruffle on the oyster.

Stir the oysters and liquor slowly into the thickened milk and cook together in the top of the double boiler a few moments until blended. Add a lump of butter, season to taste and serve with oyster crackers at once.

Look in your cook book. Chocolate pudding, custard pudding, any of the cream of vegetable soups are principally milk.

Dieticians tell us that even adults should consume almost a pint of milk daily as it keeps down acidity—a disorder from which so many suffer.

Any of the concentrated canned soups are improved with few exceptions for having a can of milk added instead of water.

Ice cream as a dessert occasionally will help to put milk into the diet in one of the pleasantest forms.

::: Children's Bedtime Story :::

By Thornton W. Burgess

Peter expected to see him rush forward eagerly, yelping or baying.

dy Fox would have done. With his wonderful nose he followed every turn Bob White had made. Gradually he drew nearer and nearer to the clump of weeds under which Bob White was hiding. Peter began to grow nervous. Why didn't Bob White take to those stout wings of his and get away? That dog was almost within springing distance. Peter held his breath. He expected to see that dog spring on Bob White. He didn't want to see such a dreadful thing happen, but for the life of him he couldn't help looking.

The dog took one more step, and then a strange thing happened. With one forepaw lifted and bent, ready for another step, that dog stopped. He was less than a good jump from that little clump of weeds. His nose pointed straight to it. His tail was straight and stiff behind him. He didn't move a muscle. He looked as if he had been frozen stiff just as he was taking that step.

Peter held his breath until he could hold it no longer. Nothing happened. Bob White didn't move. That dog didn't move. Peter didn't move. A minute passed. Two minutes passed. Three minutes passed. Peter began to wonder if something really had happened to that dog. Then with a whirr of stout wings Bob White took to the air. At once the dog moved forward. Then he looked about a little sheepishly, as if he thought he had frightened Bob White and was ashamed of it. He sniffed in the clump of weeds where Bob had been hiding, and then continued on his way, running back and forth as before. When he had passed on into the next field Bob White returned.

CARAMEL TAPIOCA

ONE-THIRD cup instant tapioca, one cup brown sugar, two eggs, one teaspoon vanilla, one tablespoon butter, three and one-half cups milk. To the scalded milk add a few grains salt and the tapioca and cook for 10 minutes. Beat eggs, add sugar and vanilla. Stir this mixture into tapioca and remove from fire. Chill and serve with cream. This may be used as a pie filling, reserving the whites of eggs for meringue.

BAKED CHOPS

PREPARE plain bread dressing as follows: Remove crust from one-half loaf of baker's bread, slice and pick in small bits, season with salt, pepper and sage. Melt two tablespoons butter in one-quarter cup hot water and add gradually to bread mixture, mixing well. Add one beaten egg. Into a deep baking dish, well buttered, slice as many potatoes as desired, add sliced onions, season. Cover with bread crumbs and lay seasoned pork chops on top. Add one-half pint water and bake until potatoes are done.

Sound sleep goes to the very foundation of good health. Restful slumber brings mental and physical vigor. No mattress in the world can equal the Red Cross for perfect sleep, because the special Red Cross process makes its filler of Kapoc Floss invitingly soft, comfortable, sanitary and shape conforming to the body. An ordinary Kapoc Floss can't have these qualities.

It's easy to give the Red Cross a sun and air bath over two chairs (which restores it to its original shape), because it's almost HALF AS LIGHT as an ordinary mattress—easier to turn. Hand tuftings keep the Red Cross shapely. The tickings are beautiful, durable and hand-sewn. Sealed in a sanitary carton. A princely bed!

Don't buy a "Just-As-Good," but insist on a Red Cross Mattress. Look for the label on each mattress for your protection.

J. F. MOORE WINS
AIR MAIL TROPHY,
AVERAGING 124.98
MILES PER HOUR

Covers 186.42 Miles in 89 Minutes and 29.96 Seconds to Capture Prize
From Field of 15 Starters

WINSLOW LANDS AND WITHDRAWS

Acknowledged Cream of Civilian Aviators, All Using Same Type Plane, in Contest of Merit of Men.

J. F. Moore, air mail pilot stationed at North Platte, Neb., today won the Detroit News Air Mail trophy by flying a 200-kilometer
(124.42 miles) course at Lambert
St. Louis Field at an average speed of 124.98 miles per hour. His time was 89 minutes, 29.96 seconds.

Moore's ship was a regulation mail plane equipped with a single 400-horsepower Packard-Liberty war-time motor, as were the other ships.

D. C. Smith of Omaha, Neb., was second, with a speed of 120.83 miles per hour, and P. F. Collins of Cleveland was third, speed 120.09 miles per hour.

This event was won at Detroit last year by Lieut. E. H. "Nipper" Smith, 2 hours 27 minutes, 29.72 seconds, or 158 miles an hour. Second, Lieut. Philip Merrill, 193.2 miles an hour; third, Lieut. C. M. Cummings, 161.3 miles an hour.

Fifteen mail service pilots, the acknowledged cream of civilian flyers in the country, started in the race for $1500 in prize—$400 to the winner, $500 to the second and $250 to the third. They are the men who, night and day, storm fair weather, carry the mail from New York to San Francisco; men accustomed to every vicissitude and to meeting every flying emergency as it arises.

Merit of men, not merit of planes was the deciding factor for the machine was each of the 15 entries was identical—400-horsepower Liberty engine-driven biplanes. Short turns, the pylons, a wide open throttle and the best flying sense were the elements of victory.

Start Remembers a Leap.

At the start the planes were in line near the hangars. The expla-sion of an aerial bomb, a red flag waved from the judges' stand, the signal to the starter on the line with the ship. A second bomb exploded, a red and white flag appeared on the judges' stand, and the man on the line dropped his flag.

There was shouting between the pilot of the first ship and the starter but this was "playful" the triumphant cry. One after the other, in a swirl of dust, the seemed to leap from the ground wing to the left in a wide arc until they reached an altitude about 500 feet. The noise of the ships were "pounded" down for the starting line and the pylons.

They caught the judges' yellow flag as they flew past his stand, a turning almost vertically, then dashed around St. Louis pylon, off a race, which for the spirit of co-test, is equal to the army-na-events, to see who among the would win.

Order in Crossing Line.

The first across the line was F.
Tager, with his name of his ho-station, Cheyenne, painted on his plane. He was followed in order
S. E. F. White, North Platte; J.
Moore, North Platte; D. C. Smith Omaha; J. H. Knight, Omaha, who was disqualified when he failed cross the starting line, but was ground it; W. C. Hopson, Omaha; L. H. Garrison, Omaha; E. M. Alson, Omaha; R. J. Page, Chicago;
W. D. Williams, Cleveland; P.
Curtis, Cleveland; W. S. Smith, New York; E. H. Wheeler, San Francisco; W. P. Blanchfield, Reno, a R. M. Ellis, Salt Lake City; P.
H. T. Lewis, one of the night fly-stationed at Omaha, was scratched before the race.

The announcer, J. E. Metcalf, McCook Field, Dayton, O., started with his snappy chatter, as soon the last ship crossed the line, he he remark, "Well, folks, you to head it to the mail flyer." L.
